Trio are convicted over hot tub fraud

THREE men have been found guilty of fraud over their involvement in a hot tub distribution business.

The men ran Rugeley-based Spaserve, which went bankrupt in October 2010 owing £2.7million. Their actions affected hundreds of customers.

Following a three-month trial at Stafford Crown court the three men were convicted of fraudulent trading and conspiracy to defraud.

Simon Foster, aged 48 and Johnathan Hussellbee, 36, of south Staffordshire and Stuart Cox, 40, from the West Midlands will be sentenced in April.

They were convicted for their involvement in the fraudulent running of Spaserve, and agreeing to lie and mislead customers at the point of sale as to the origin of the hot tub and how long they would take to arrive. It is thought around 2,000 hot tubs were sold over three-and-a-half years and only in the region of 1,600 were delivered.

A police and Trading Standards investigation found Spaserve had traded under different names. The business was declared bankrupt in October 2010, owing £2.7million. The partners had taken £1.2m of company funds.

The court heard the business was not profitable at any stage in its existence.

Driver sits on roof in floods

A DRIVER was rescued from the roof of his car after getting stuck in flood water near a railway bridge.

Firefighters were called to Hammerwich Lane in Hammerwich at 8pm on Tuesday. He was rescued by firefighters and his car retrieved from the water.

Staffordshire Police and Staffordshire County Council have been asked to close the road.

Crew manager Allen Kimber from Lichfield fire station said: "Water had come into his car and he was sitting on the roof."

GOUGH LAUGHS OFF MP CLAIMS

CRICKET ace Darren Gough has rubbished rumours he is to stand for parliament to replace Aidan Burley – as the MP insisted he was not sacked.

Mr Burley last week announced he would step down as MP at the next general election following widespread criticism over his participation in a Nazi-themed stag party.

Ex-England bowler Gough has laughed off claims he could be in the running, writing on Twitter he was not in the frame. After his name was thrown into the ring alongside that of Karen Brady, Gough told his 317,000 followers: "Just to confirm I'm not into politics whatsoever. Thankyou."

Mr Burley, meanwhile, has threatened to sue anyone who claims he was ousted from the seat. A Sunday newspaper had reported he had been summoned to Downing Street to meet David Cameron's aides to discuss his future.

Emphatic

He also took to Twitter to make his denial, writing: "Total rubbish. Standing down is my decision. This story is categorically untrue and No.10 has already issued an 'emphatic' denial."

"I came under no pressure to stand down from the PM or anyone else."

The Prime Minister says the MP he made the right decision in standing down, but Mr Burley warned he would launch legal action against anyone claiming that he was told to do so.

Mr Cameron said: "I think he's made the right decision. Aidan has worked very hard in Cannock on particular issues like the hospital. He has now made this decision, which I think is the right decision and we should move on from there."

by Rob Gollledge

In a statement announcing his decision, Mr Burley said: "After a difficult time I have decided to announce I will stand down at the next general election. I will continue to work for the people of Cannock Chase until that election, and look forward to supporting my successor."

Tory chairman Grant Shapps said Mr Burley had served his constituents with dedication and commitment and his efforts were also praised by his agent Ian Collard.

He said: "Aidan has been an excellent local MP, who has achieved much for Cannock Chase."

Group spokesman Councillor Paul Snape interviews would take place to find Mr Burley's replacement.

Praising his constituents for their support, Mr Burley said: "I have been overwhelmed by the messages of support. Thank you all so much. I look forward to continuing to serve the people of Cannock Chase over the next 15 months."

However, Labour's Cannock Chase candidate James Toth, said: "He has brought shame to the Cannock Chase constituency and it wouldn't go away."

"He has done what he had to do because his behaviour wasn't acceptable."

Bosses count cost of arson at quarry

Operations manager Mark Deadman looks at one of three Screeners that have been damaged by arson

YOBS broke into a quarry and set fire to expensive machinery, causing up to £350,000 worth of damage.

Bosses at WCL Quarries said they were 'gutted' at the devastation caused at Cranebrook Quarry, on the A5 between Brownhills and Muckley Corner in Lichfield.

The culprits broke in through barbed wire surrounding the site in the early hours of the morning and climbed down to where machinery was being kept.

Three large screeners, used during recycling material, were set on fire.

Two pieces of the equipment, which is about 50ft long, have been severely damaged by fire and another one was partly affected and is also currently out of use. The arsonists had managed to evade the firm's security cameras.

Bosses slammed the culprits.

Mindless

Head of operations Mark Deadman said everyone at the company was left feeling 'gutted' by what had happened.

"For somebody to come into the quarry in the middle of the night is ludicrous, it beggars belief," he said.

"They are irresponsible people with very poor morals. It is just mindless vandalism. We will certainly come back from this and we open for business as normal.

Firefighters from Lichfield tackled the blaze. They were called out at around 2.45am on Tuesday when flames were seen coming from the quarry.

WCL Quarries has operated from the site since 2006 specialising in recycling building materials and manufacturing red sand.

Staffordshire Police confirmed the attack was deliberate and have launched an investigation. Anyone with information is urged to call police on 101 and quote incident 037 of February 11.

Experts' call for an early HS2 start

EXPERTS say the second phase of HS2 – which will cut through 45 miles of Staffordshire countryside – should be built sooner.

Think tank Greengauge 21 has urged the Government to start development on the Crewe-Lichfield stretch of the line as part of the first phase of the £50 billion project.

Under current plans, work on the London to Birmingham line would begin in 2017 and start running trains in 2026. The bulk of the Staffordshire leg is currently earmarked for phase two which means it would not be operational until 2033. But experts are keen to see it completed sometime in the mid-2020s.

Jim Steer, director of Greengauge 21, said bringing forward the Staffordshire work could cut the cost of the scheme. It comes as wildlife experts expressed fresh concerns on the impact of HS2 in Staffordshire.

Kate Dewey, of Staffordshire Wildlife Trust, said HS2 Ltd had underestimated how much damage would be done to nature sites and said 11 could be affected by the second phase of the project alone.

Action group Marston Against HS2 will collect signatures against the development at Penkridge Market on Saturday.

RUGELEY firefighters are helping with the emergency flooding operations in the south of England.

The senior strung crew travelled to Buckinghamshire to assist with the clean-up at Marlow.

The Enhanced Logistical Support Team, made up of seven personnel from across Staffordshire, has also made its way to Somerset to assist Devon and Somerset Fire and Rescue Service. The crew will be stationed at Taunton Deane motorway services.

Five arrested after homes targeted

FOUR men and a youth have been arrested in connection with a spate of house burglaries across Staffordshire.

Forty-four homes have along with Lichfield, Shenstone and Little Aston.

Theives have taken car keys, cars, jewellery, electrical items, mobile phones, cash and handbags.

Three of the men have been charged, a youth has been referred to the Staffordshire Youth Offending Service and another man has been bailed pending further enquiries.

They were all arrested on suspicion of burglary after intelligence-led operations.

Prevent

Inspector Rachel Joyce, Commander of Lichfield District Local Policing Team, said: "There has been a rise in house burglaries since the festive period, particularly in Shenstone, Little Aston, Burntwood and Lichfield.

"Our aim is not only to prevent and detect crimes but to reassure our communities that we are tackling and dealing with what matters to them.

"We are not complacent in the fight against these crimes. Victims not only lose valuable items but it can have a devastating affect on them for a considerable time.

"Burglary is an ongoing priority for police and we will continue to investigate these crimes and bring offenders to justice."

She added people should be taking simple crime prevention measures such as ensuring doors and windows are locked to help drive down the number of house burglaries.

A&amp;E hours may be cut over staff shortage

OPENING times at Stafford Hospital's A&E could be cut further due to staff shortages amid winter pressures, bosses have said.

The number of inpatient beds could also reduce due to difficulty with recruiting and retaining trained nurses.

Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust had a vacancy rate of more than 10 per cent for trained nurses in December - the equivalent of 74 full time positions.

More than a dozen nurses had to be drafted in from Cannock Hospital on a short-term basis to help with winter pressures last month, the trust's senior management team was told during a meeting last week.

Chief executive Maggie Oldham said further restrictions on A&E opening times could not be discounted if pressures continued. She appealed for the public to only use the department in emergencies.

In a presentation to the senior management team, she said: "Without further mitigating actions and if demand exceeds supply for a sustained period the remaining available option is further restriction on A&E operating hours."

Dissolving of trust put to GPs' vote

AROUND 170 GPs are being balloted on whether they support plans to dissolve Mid Staffordshire NHS Trust.

Stafford MP Jeremy Lefroy has written a letter on behalf of Conservative colleagues Aidan Burley, Gavin Williamson and Bill Cash, calling on GPs to state whether they support the proposals.

The doctors, who are members of the Clinical Commissioning Groups responsible for the area, are being asked to state a yes or no response.

Moves to dissolve the trust were approved by health watchdog Monitor and 10,000 patients from New Cross Hospital will have elective surgery at the Brunswick Road site every year under the switch.

Up to 350 staff will move over from New Cross Hospital to Cannock and free bus shuttle services will be introduced to ferry patients between the sites.

Mr Lefroy told around 30 people at a public meeting in Stafford about the action that was being taken, as further concerns were raised about the plans.

Giant egg causes stir at school

Gemma Davies, aged 11, inspects the giant egg at St Peter's Primary

MYSTERY surrounds the appearance of a nest in a school playground containing what appears to be a giant egg.

St Peter's Primary pupils in Hedgesford have been working on a project around the 'discovery' made by caretaker Jez Holroyd.

Teachers dreamed up the project to develop pupils' skills, primarily in literacy.

Deputy head Will Stevens said: "The children are speculating over what it really is and whether it is safe. Some of the older children are a bit cynical but the younger ones are fascinated."

Since the nest and 3ft wide red egg arrived, purple feathers and three large footprints have subsequently appeared.

Reception class children have made reproductions for display, year fours have used the project to create a capsule for the egg, while year six students have written up news reports after carrying out investigations and interviews.

Lotto cash winners could land top award

MORE than £189,700 of National Lottery funding was invested into Cannock Chase last year. The recipients now have a chance to enter the National Lottery Awards.

These projects, and all others that have received Lottery funding, have a chance to gain national recognition for their work as the National Lottery Awards 2014 open for entries.

There are seven award categories, namely sport, heritage, arts, environment, health, education and voluntary/charity. Winners will receive £2,000 and national recognition in an event broadcast on BBC One.

The invited guests joined area director West of Arriva Midlands Rob Cheveau, to formally unveil the vehicles to the public for the very first time, and reveal details of the £1.1 million investment made to implement the fleet improvements.

The vehicles are fitted with low-emission Euro 5 engines, CCTV, LED lighting as well offering easy access low flooring.

Mr Cheveau said: "We're proud to deliver these high quality vehicles to our customers on route 25/26."

The 25/26 service runs between Cannock, Pye Green and Hednesford. It runs up to every 12 minutes during the day Monday to Friday and up to 15 minutes on a Saturday, including evenings. A new Sunday service will operate from March 23.

Store wins award for healthy workplace

Julie Owen and Sam Bagshaw with Shaun Lewis and Jan Humpage

A SUPERMARKET has been presented with a healthy workplace Gold award by Cannock Chase District Council.

Sainsbury's Cannock was introduced to the Healthy Workplace Award by Emily MacKinnon, Environmental Health Business Support Officer for the council. The authority has been working in partnership with Staffordshire County Council which developed the Workplace Health Programme to help small and large employers to provide healthy lifestyle information to teams.

The award follows a unique programme of Health and Wellbeing initiatives for staff which has been put together by Sainsbury's

Health and Wellbeing team led by HR manager Sam Bagshaw. Over the last 12 months they have provided cholesterol testing and training, organised a mental health information day and a departmental pedometer challenge. In September 2013 the Cannock store received the silver Award.

Lifestyle

Providing health information and encouraging healthy lifestyle choices can be done with minimal cost and having a healthy workforce increases economic resilience, reduces sickness rates and ultimately saves money in sick pay. Ms Bagshaw said: "We create a great place to work for our colleagues, so supporting this initiative fit well with our values and the feedback has been really positive. It was great for our 460 colleagues at the Cannock store to get access to additional information and advice, so we're very proud to win this award."

Julie Owen Sainsbury's HR Manager said: "We will continue with the commitment to support the award recognition."

The Sainsbury's Cannock Well Being committee were invited to the awards ceremony on January 23 at Cannock Community Fire station to receive the Workplace health gold award certificate.

Government urged to release report on HS2

CANNOCK Chase Council's leader is calling for a damning report into HS2, suppressed by the government, to be made public.

Councillor George Adamson wants the Transport Secretary Patrick McLoughlin, a former Cannock miner, to publish a report that the government has refused to release.

It is believed the document raises major concerns over

Extra help for tenants at drop-in surgeries

MORE housing surgeries are to be held across Cannock Chase following the success of drop-in events in Rugeley.

Cannock Chase Council has announced additional sessions will take place for residents in Cannock and Norton Canes.

The surgeries were trialled in Rugeley in November and housing leader Councillor Frank Allen said: "I am delighted that residents have made use of the drop-in sessions. The sessions in Rugeley have been very successful."

"Residents from Cannock have been travelling to Rugeley for advice so we are now pleased to offer additional sessions in both Cannock and Norton Canes."

Cannock sessions began yesterday (Wednesday) and will take place fortnightly from 9am-1pm in the Cannock Local Area Office.

Sessions in Norton Canes will take place between the same times at the library in Burntwood Road every other Thursday starting on February 27.

the costs and delivery of the proposed £50 billion scheme.

Mr Adamson, in his role as a county councillor, is asking his colleagues to support a motion to apply pressure on Mr McLoughlin.

The government used a rare veto to block the publication of the report from the Major Projects Authority. The last time such a veto was deployed was to stop Iraq war documents being published.

Councillor Adamson said: "How can we make a proper judgment on whether HS2 is right for this country or not if we are not allowed to have the full facts? This is a railway not national security."

Motion

"Patrick McLoughlin is a Staffordshire lad and he is letting us down by preventing us from having the truth."

A vote was being taken today (Thursday) on the motion, which reads: "This council calls on the government to publish the report into HS2 by the Major Projects Authority that is currently being suppressed using the Cabinet's 'exceptional powers'."

The Information Commissioner had ordered the government to release the document following a request under the Freedom of Information Act. But the Cabinet is able to block publication in exceptional circumstances.

A soup-er way to spread the warmth

Rosemary Bee, aged 87, of Cannock, with falls prevention co-ordinator Susan Blower at St Luke's church centre

STAFF at Age UK have been turning up the heat with exercise demonstrations and bowls of soup.

Members of Age UK South Staffordshire launched their annual Spread the Warmth campaign at St Luke's Church Centre in Cannock.

The charity joined forces with colleagues nationwide to raise money and awareness of the issues faced by older people over the winter.

Visitors could listen to a number of demonstrations on how to save money, keep warm, eat well and stay active. Elizabeth Marginson, community engagement organiser, said: "It was a really good event and we had a great mix of people."

"Lots of organisations joined us to offer advice on healthy eating and how to stay warm, including Eat Well Staffordshire, the Carers Association and the fire service."

"Morrisons in Cannock donated vegetables to us to make soup and we had lot of people over the age of 65 come along for a chat and a cup of coffee and a bowl of soup. We also sold bobbles for people to pin on to their hats and scarves which is something we do annually for Bobble Day."

"Exercise co-ordinator Sue Blower also gave a demonstration of how to stay active."

The charity is compiling a recipe book with soup and winter warmers from tried and tested recipes and is asking for ideas.

A cookery class at the centre is being organised for March 21 at St Luke's Church Centre. For details call 01785 788472.

GREG Barker, the energy minister, says middle-aged people should buy solar panels because they are a better investment than a pension. Well, that depends. In these stormy times, I can pretty well guarantee that the thing that has just blown off your roof, and landed with an expensive crash in your garden, is not your pension.

CIVIL engineering is a big, bold, blokey profession, railways are romantic and Cornwall is steeped in lore and music. In the good old days, repairing the storm-wrecked railway line at Dawlish would have taken years and generated enough folk songs to fuel a thousand pub crawls. The current estimate for this epic repair is six weeks. Such is progress. Take your finger out of your ear and put away that banjo.

AUF wiedersehen, Aidan Burley. The Tory MP for Cannock has agreed to quit before next year's General Election. It was the only possible ending. The tragedy is that Burley showed such promise. He was Oxford-educated and a hard-working local MP. So brilliant and yet so stupid. If he had been merely on the fringes of the infamous Nazi-themed stag party in a French ski resort, as he first claimed, Burley might have survived. But when it emerged he had actually organised the party and provided the SS-style uniform, his political career was kaput. One newspaper even found an old photo of his fiancée at another fancy-dress party - with another bloke in German uniform. Burley raged that this was "gutter press personified," which is the sort of language politicians tend to use just before they clear their desks.

ONE of the week's more surprising discoveries was that a dog can eat an Aston Martin. Royston Grimstead returned to his Somerset home to find his collie/spaniel cross, Luce, had chewed the glassfibre wheel arch of his DB9. He believes the dog may have guessed her owner was thinking of finding a new home for her and got her retaliation in first. I can believe this. We once had a guide-dog puppy called Georgia who spent her first 10 months as a family pet at Chateau Rhodes before being taken away, in a flood of tears and much howling, to begin her training. On her last night with us, Georgia tried to eat a Welsh dresser.

EDUCATION Secretary Michael Gove says state schools should admit two-year-olds and stay open 10 hours a day. To what end? Schools already have our children for at least 12 years and yet a fifth of school leavers are illiterate, innumerate or both. When it comes to teaching time, the issue is not quantity but quality.

YOU are heir to the throne. Dabbling in politics is forbidden. So what do you say when you feel strongly about an issue but must not get too involved? Simple. You use the wonderful line from the 1989 TV drama House of Cards, as delivered by the villainous chief whip Francis Urquhart, brilliantly played by Ian Richardson. I bet those 10 little words had been echoing around Prince Charles's head for the past 25 years, simply aching for a suitable moment. It came this week as HRH toured the flooded Somerset Levels. A reporter asked whether the Environment Agency had not done enough. Quick as a flash and word-perfect, Charles replied: "You might very well think that; I couldn't possibly comment." Cometh the hour, cometh the quote.

Library exhibits Middle Earth mosaic

Mike Reynolds and Councillor David Williams with the mosaic

A COMMUNITY art project that pieced together Tolkien's 'Middle Earth' has been unveiled at Penkridge Library.

The mosaic, created by local people and groups, was unveiled last Saturday for National Libraries Day and will be on permanent display at the venue in Bell Brook.

Artist Mike Reynolds and Library Development Officer Scott Whitehouse were behind the idea, which celebrates the author's links with the area.

Library staff invited residents, pupils, local groups and young offenders from HM Brinsford YO1 to get involved and free workshops were held to create the mosaic inspired by JRR Tolkien's Middle Earth.

The project was jointly funded by Staffordshire Library Service, the Prisons Library Service and a £500 donation from County Councillor David Williams' Local Community Fund.

A watercolour painting of the original design will be presented to Brinsford acknowledging the young offenders' contribution.

Penalty as pub boss screens big games

A PUB licensee from Cannock has been ordered to pay almost £7,000 after illegally broadcasting football matches despite being warned about the practice.

Steve Bate did not have a commercial contract to show the games which were screened last year at the Jubilee Inn, in Pye Green Road.

He had previously been warned by the Federation Against Copyright Theft (Fact) and promised not to broadcast a foreign stream of Sky Sports.

But he was caught showing two Premier League matches in September and October last year when investigators visited. The matches included Chelsea v Fulham and Sunderland against Manchester United. At Stafford Magistrates Court, Bate was convicted of two offences of dishonest reception of a television transmission without a commercial viewing agreement.

Persist

Although he failed to turn up to the hearing, he was ordered to pay costs and a fine totalling £6,878.

Stephen Gerrard, prosecuting manager at Fact, said: "Despite clear messages and warnings we are still finding a small number of licensees who persist in using illegal systems to show Sky broadcasts."

"People found to be showing Sky in commercial premises without having entered into the correct commercial subscription agreement with Sky face criminal prosecution, costs and potential loss of licence."

Alison Dolan, deputy managing director at Sky Business, added: "This case demonstrates the seriousness of this issue as courts continue to deliver considerable penalties to licensees who televise Sky content illegally."

"Sky will continue to support Fact in prosecuting those licensees who choose to break the law to protect the interests of law-abiding pubs who invest in Sky Sports to build their businesses and entertain their customers."

The licensee, who has run the pub for the past seven years, said the reason he showed the matches without a commercial contract was because Sky was so expensive. He said: "It would cost me £1,400 a month to install it. That's not justifiable. A lot of pubs take this risk."

Make do with musuem fun

Front of House assistant Rachel Cooksey promotes the half-term activities

A WONDERFUL week of make, do and mend is on the cards at the Museum of Cannock Chase during the half-term holiday.

The Valley Road, Hednesford, centre, is hosting a series of craft sessions and workshops, using recycled materials.

They are open for all the family and take place on February 18, 19 and 20.

Activities include making perfect planes, pom pom pictures and photo frames, creating jewellery, recycled rugs and gift boxes and producing pixie houses, owls and games.

There is no need to book for the workshops, which take place from 11am to 3pm each day and cost £1.50 per child. Adults must accompany children but there is no admission.

The museum is open from 11am to 4pm. Call 01543 877666 for more details.

Event is sign of a record attempt

STUDENTS have done their bit to raise funds for a good cause in a sign language charity event.

Pupils from Norton Canes Primary joined thousands of people across the country to try to break the world record of 116,980 people singing and signing simultaneously.

The event was organised to help raise awareness of British Sign Language.

They are now waiting to find out if they have been successful.

Louise Crow, communication support worker at the School Road school, said £110 was raised for Sign Health which supports vulnerable deaf adults and children.

She said: "The children, who are all aged seven to 11, were taught sign language during a series of afternoon sessions and then put them into practice during an assembly."

"Some of them already knew sign language because we have a student here who is deaf, but they did so well."

"It has been a great experience. I think it is important skill for youngsters to learn because it means that they will be able to communicate with any deaf person they meet later in life."

MP in train speeds call

AN MP is calling for train speeds through villages to be kept at 45mph despite a £30 million project to make them faster.

Gavin Williamson, for South Staffordshire, met with transport minister Stephen Hammond and called for the limit to stay in place in built-up areas, where trains pass through Great Wyrley and Cheslyn Hay.

Around 15 miles of railway between Walsall, Hednesford and Rugeley Trent Valley are set to be electrified by 2017 making it possible for trains to go up to 75mph. Mr Williamson is trying to limit the impact.

Students' award

STUDENTS from Penkridge are celebrating after winning a product design competition. The successful team from Wolgarston High in Cannock Road came first in the Stafford and Stone Trade Fair. Their idea was Dynastand, a universal tablet stand.

Website explores county's war role

A NEW website promoting events commemorating the centenary year of the First World War has gone live.

The Staffordshire Great War website, www.staffordshiregreatwar.com tells the story of Staffordshire's role during the conflict and the lives of the people that lived through it.

It features listings from some of the county's most popular attractions, including the Staffordshire Regiment Museum, National Memorial Arboretum and the German and Allied Cemetery on Cannock Chase.

Councillor Mike Lawrence, cabinet member for community and localism, said: "We have many wonderful sites and attractions that link us to, and offer poignant reminders of the Great War."

"We hope the website gives visitors the opportunity to explore more about the county's important role during the conflict, while paying tribute to those who lost their lives in the war."

Information on the website was compiled by a team of researchers from the council's archives and heritage team, using a mix of Staffordshire's own records, plus national and overseas records.

Businesswoman's boost to cadets scheme

Counsellor Mel Riley with her dogs Max and River

POLICE cadets have received a donation from a West Midlands based businesswoman.

The owner of Wolverhampton business Mel Riley Counselling decided to donate £50 after seeing a funding appeal on Twitter.

Launched in 2013, the Staffordshire cadet service aims to strengthen links between police and young people in an initiative which was a key pledge for Police and Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis.

Mr Ellis has stated that he will not redirect money intended for frontline policing to fund the cadets service. Mel said: "I don't think there are enough pastimes to engage children and teens and as a result they get bored, depressed and sometimes give up on having a future. It's a story I hear way too often."

Flourished

"I think we need to inspire and support our young people, rather than blame and judge them. When I spotted the plea on Twitter I decided to answer it."

Since their launch, cadet units have flourished in Cannock and Stafford with 60 young people taking part every week. More will follow across Staffordshire soon with the next due to open in Stoke-on-Trent this month.

Deputy PCC Sue Arnold, who is leading the scheme on behalf of Mr Ellis, said: "Less than a year since the first unit was launched, the service has made a real difference to the lives of 60 young people. "We are grateful for any donations received, no matter how big or small they are."

"I'd like to personally say a big thank you to Mel on behalf of Staffordshire's young police cadets."

Gift of life as mother donates kidney to son

THEY say a mother's love knows no bounds and that could not be more true for Adrienne Black.

When the 70-year-old of Burntwood heard her son needed a kidney transplant, she did not hesitate to come to his rescue.

She will give him the gift of life by donating one of her own kidneys later this month. Son Nathan, who has been receiving dialysis for kidney failure three times a week for the last year, described his mother as 'amazing'.

The 45-year-old from Brownhills attends Samuel Johnson Community Hospital in Lichfield for five hours at a time.

It was in 2005 that his kidneys began to fail after he picked up a disease that went undiagnosed.

He said: "I was diagnosed in March last year with end-stage renal failure and I have been on dialysis for almost 12 months."

"Kidneys can fail for a number of reasons after picking up infections, as the result of a cold and from using antibiotics."

"I go to hospital to have my blood cleaned three times a week and although it isn't painful, it is very time consuming and draining."

Risks

When doctors told him he needed a transplant, his brother Daniel, partner Jo and two friends all came forward to see if they were a match.

"They came with me to a consultation at QE Hospital in Birmingham where they were told about the risks involved and despite that they all had blood and tissue tests," said Nathan.

Doctors found none of the four was suitable so Mrs Black decided instead and was found she was a match.

Nathan said: "Doctors have been monitoring her health constantly because she is 70 years old and she must have had every single one of her organs tested to make sure they are in good working order and that she is physically fit before surgery."

"I am slightly nervous because it is quite major surgery for both of us but at the same time I am very excited because my quality of life will improve greatly."

"As it stands, I can't go swimming with my son or play football or even go on bike

Nathan Black and mother Adrienne, who is donating a kidney rides and I can't go on holiday with Jo like we used to so I am looking forward to getting back to normal again."

The father-of-three of Lichfield Road will receive the transplant from his mother on Monday, February 17. After the operation he will remain in hospital for 11 days. Mrs Black will be discharged after four.

He added: "My mum is amazing. She is very active in the community and is a member of Christ Church in Burntwood as well as a member of the WI."

"It is fantastic what she is doing for me, it is like she has given me a million pounds. I feel so happy and I am eternally grateful."

"You don't realise how important your family is until something like this happens. "I haven't been able to work since my diagnosis. My whole life has been put on hold but I couldn't have got through it without my family."

Nathan added: "I remember when I was diagnosed, I rang Jo who was in the middle of an exam as she was studying to become a solicitor, and she rushed to be at my side without a moment's hesitation. I can't wait until I am on the mend so that life can go back to normal."

Mrs Black, of Tudor Road, said she did not hesitate to put herself forward after her son's diagnosis. She added: "I asked whether there was an age limit for donors. The nurse said there wasn't but that Nathan might not want a 70-year-old kidney."

"I said that if nobody else was a match or if anybody dropped out then I would step in. I have got a few nerves but I always say that I gave birth to Nathan so I have to give him life."

IN MY VIEW

WITH
ANDREWS

AT long last, the financial comparison website Go Compare has finally latched onto the fact that a novelty Welshman with a silly moustache warbling on about car insurance for years on end can eventually become a tad irritating.

The company's new ad campaign sees the tubby, annoying singer having found his true vocation in life, behind the wheel of a bus.

But you have to say, it is an interesting choice of background music.

Were they aware that The Green, Green Grass of Home is a song about a man heading for the gallows? Maybe it's just a bit of wishful thinking...

ACCORDING to Copenhagen Zoo's website, its aims are to be known 'for its ethical standards', to be 'respected for its high standards and quality regarding the keeping of animals', and 'be actively involved in the international efforts to preserve animal species'.

This is the same zoo which at the weekend shot a healthy young giraffe rather than see it transferred to another zoo, and then chopped it up in front of an audience of schoolchildren, before feeding it to the lions.

But while the Danish definition of ethical treatment of zoo animals might be a little different to ours, it is good to know that there are some moral codes which are rigidly adhered to.

For example, it is a criminal offence to eat raw bacon in the event of a full moon. And saying that your wife is uglier than her mother carries a 12-month prison sentence.

So let's get this right. An undercooked bacon buttie or a bit of marital disharmony is a total no-no, but hacking up a graceful, gentle creature with a meat cleaver is viewed as a bit of wholesome family entertainment.

What strange people.

SO White Dee, the matriarch of Channel 4 documentary series Benefits Street, has reportedly been offered £60,000 to appear in the next series of I'm A Celebrity, Get Me Out of Here!

Even more bizarrely, one newspaper report claims the, ahem, larger-than-life character has been offered a further £20,000 to pose topless.

Presumably, that must be an A3 cent spread.

Meanwhile, two other dysfunctional residents, former benefit cheats Mark and Becky, have now decided to turn their hands to a spot of free enterprise, selling their autographs on Ebay.

Do you still think that they are poor, misrepresented victims who were conned into taking part in the show?

Blood bikers' gift of life to patients

They are now out on the streets with the mission to help those in need as CLARE DUNN explains

THEY are bikers – but not as you know them.

These motorcyclist enthusiasts are blood bikers – and their mission is to carry the gift of life to those in need.

The Shropshire and Staffordshire Blood Bikes will become a familiar sight on the region's roads.

Blood Bikes is a new emergency volunteer service for the out-of-hours delivery of blood and other medical items, such as breast milk for premature babies and microbiological samples, using specially-equipped motorbikes.

It operates 24/7, providing emergency transport every night, at weekends and over bank holidays.

It is funded by donations and is free of charge to the NHS.

Chris Powdrill is chairman of the service and a qualified SSBB rider.

Motivated

The 71-year-old, from Market Drayton, said: "Blood bikes sprouted along mainly the south coast and the Home Counties.

"It has gradually spread over the years and Shropshire and Staffordshire are one of the last to get a group formed. It started in June last year when a meeting was first held in Telford. From then we have grown in number.

"At the moment we are looking at somewhere around the 50 mark for members and they come from all walks of life like myself, who are retired, and there are some in full-time employment who are giving up their spare time to do it.

"They are mostly motivated by wanting to put something back into the community. It is not that we want to ride bikes all over the place, although we enjoy riding bikes, it is more that something has touched us along the way and we want to give something back to the community.

He added all of the organisation's manpower was currently voluntary and the greatest need was a steady stream of income to cover the running costs of equipment, bikes, clothing and protective covers for boxes.

"That enables us to deliver the service free of charge to the NHS.

"That is the key aim of the group," he explained. When they receive a call, the thing that you can do to help the NHS at the moment is actually helping your own community."

At present the Shropshire and Staffordshire Blood Bikes has two bikes but the aim is to raise enough money to eventually have six.

The service works on a rota. The controller takes the call and notifies the duty rider who is on call working 7pm until 6am.

All volunteer riders have passed an Advanced Motorcycle Test and are all independently assessed by an ex-police motorcycle instructor before being qualified to ride for the Blood Bikes service.

Another blood biker is ex-Staffordshire policeman Ben Wilkes, 58, of Rugeley.

He spent many of his policing years in the Lichfield and Burton areas.

He said: "For me, doing what we do means we can continue to enjoy that passion of motorcycling.

"But for me as well, I have spent much of my life doing things in a voluntary capacity and I get so much satisfaction out of it, it is immeasurable."

Benefit

Sheila Fryer, business manager for pathology at The Shrewsbury and Telford Hospital NHS Trust, said: "We're delighted Blood Bikes is launching in the Shropshire and Telford & Wrekin area and that our patients will be able to benefit from this.

"Rapid response for the transport of urgent blood and other specimens is vital and our partnership with Blood Bikes will help us ensure they are processed in a timely and effective manner."

Shropshire and Staffordshire Blood Bikes is being launched at RAF Cosford tomorrow with special guests four times World Superbikes Champion Carl Fogarty and ex-British champion James Witham.

Anyone who is wanting to find out more information or wanting to raise funds for the SSBB should visit <http://shropshireandstaffordshirebloodbikes.wordpress.com/>

Support group for little-known illness

Helen Borton and Phil Tittensor highlight the meeting for Non-epileptic attack disorder sufferers

A NEW support group for people suffering with a little-known illness that causes seizures has been set up.

Non-epileptic attack disorder is a condition where people suffer from fits. But unlike epilepsy, the condition is psychological.

A new Staffordshire based group has been founded by Helen Borton, who has the disorder, and epilepsy nurse Phil Tittensor who works at Cannock and Stafford hospitals. The group is aimed at sufferers, carers or family members. It is not suitable for those with epilepsy.

Mother-of-two Helen, aged 29, said: "It is more of a social thing to give people a chance to meet up, share experiences and make friends but we can put people in the right direction to appropriate agencies if they need help."

The first meeting is at the Premier Suite in Cannock on February 26 at 7pm. Call Helen on 01543 500926.

Managers aspire to take over almshouses

A HOUSING association has taken over the management of an almshouses charity.

The Hopkins Sneyd Almshouse's origins go back to the 1700s and it now has 44 homes in Bryans Lane, Rugeley, providing housing for elderly people from Rugeley and Brereton.

The management has transferred to Newcastle-under-Lyme based Aspire Housing from Sanctuary Housing.

By John Corser

It is made up of a 36-home sheltered housing scheme called Sneydlands, six almshouses and two bungalows. The homes will remain owned by the charity but Aspire will provide management services.

Trustees

The charity invited other housing associations to apply for the work and Aspire Housing was selected by the trustees.

Aspire managing director Wayne Hughes said: "We are very pleased to take on the management of these homes."

"We are very experienced in managing sheltered housing and services for older people and we aim to provide an excellent service to current and future residents."

Charity chairman Rev Michael Newman, the vicar of St Augustine's Church, Rugeley, said: "We are very pleased to have appointed Aspire Housing to manage the charity's homes."

Aspire Housing will manage the two staff, requests for repairs and the waiting list, let homes and collect rent.

The Hopkins Sneyd Almshouse charity has a board of 11 trustees, including Mr Newman and two Cannock Chase councillors. It was created from an amalgamation of 18 different charities.

Backing a kick in the teeth

THE disgraceful decision by Conservative Party members in Cannock Chase to give their full backing to Aidan Burley with regard to his actions and explanations as best man at a stag party in France, is an act of contempt towards all the people who lost millions of loved ones at the hands of the murderous Third Reich.

Aidan Burley has always claimed that when he saw what was going on he left the party and did not go to the Frog and Roastbeef. Darning new evidence now appears to show he did.

The Conservative party's response to give Mr Burley their full backing - before his decision to stand down at the next election - was, to me, presumptuous, biased and provocative.

It must have been a kick in the teeth to all ex-servicemen in Cannock, and to the memory of those killed by Hitler's evil regime.

Round Table impact outweighs its size

AN excellent feature on the Penkridge Round Table (Chronicle, January 30). It highlighted some of their activities and fundraising but I would like to emphasise even more the essential part the villages and communities in which they are situated.

Not only do they directly organise traditional events like fun runs, fetes, beer festivals and making sure Santa visits local villages, but they provide support and advice to other community groups to run their own events and activities. In some cases other village organisations would not exist without their help.

Penkridge Round Table are real life-savers - their initial financial and ongoing support helped set up a volunteer Community First Responder team which during 2013 were called out nearly 500 times to help out during the vital first few minutes after a heart attack or other potential life-threatening situation until a 999 ambulance arrived. In bad weather in rural areas that sn't always as quick as would be hoped. Most recently the Round Table have been working with local businesses to provide publicly-accessible automated defibrillators in key locations in the village.

For a small group of men, the Round Table's impact on life and community spirit in Penkridge and surrounding villages far outweighs its size.

Village of Wyrley is not great any more

I HAVE lived in Great Wyrley for 16 years. I remember when I decided to move here it was the beautiful well kept village with a kind community that made the decision for me.

Fast forward years later and there is nothing great about this village any more. You cannot walk down any street without having to dodge the disgusting amounts of dog mess left on the floor, either that or you fall into a pothole.

I wouldn't be surprised if the whole village is on a constant high with the rancid smell of cannabis in the air, with people having no shame in even standing at the bus stop and lighting up a joint in front of children.

What has happened to this once beautiful village? Because as far as I can see there is nothing Great about Wyrley anymore.

What Labour did for us

IN reply to Janos Toth's criticism of MP Aidan Burley's Nazi themed stag party.

Poplars moving goalposts

RE: the article on the Poplars Landfill on January 23. When we moved to the area in 1987 we were informed that the site had a maximum of 20 years' life. Now they are saying this again.

Based on the figures given they can take a further 5,751,245 tonnes of waste and if they only take 350,000 tonnes a year then the site would be at capacity within 17 years. If they take the full 500,000 tonnes per annum then they would be at capacity within 12 years.

They are constantly changing the goalposts and their figures do not tally.

Cannock Council should intervene and say 'enough is enough' and stipulate a specific date for when they should stop receiving waste and landscape the site.

Residents deserve to be given a definite date for when the site will be closed for waste, the sooner the better.

Praise for the pupils and park keepers

I WRITE to you because I feel the time is right to kick start the year with some well earned praise.

Firstly for the park keepers. During the diabolical weather conditions that all of us have endured in recent months, they have managed to keep our park in pristine condition and as you stroll around the park, you can't help but notice the fruits of their hard work.

Secondly to St Luke's Primary School pupils. On a cold, sunny, crisp day in January, pupils arrived with their teachers to play tennis. The pupils filled both courts. All were a credit to their supervisors/tutors and all enjoyed their outdoor activity and their behaviour was exemplary.

Enthusiasm towards business clear to see

I FIRST met Mr Aidan Burley when he kindly took time out of his busy schedule to open our new business premises in Cannock.

Straight away his enthusiasm towards local business in Cannock was clear to see, rather than a politician going through the motions to tick a box he genuinely took an interest in our new 'start up' business. Our growth, diversification and job creation since has been greatly helped by Mr Burley's continued support.

Furthermore it's clear to see that his relentless campaigns that include saving the hospital have all been for the good of the local people in Cannock.

Festive football truce game to be re-enacted

ONE of the most iconic moments of the First World War is to be re-enacted on Cannock Chase.

News that the Christmas truce football game between British and German soldiers is to be replayed comes as a new report shows fewer than half of people in the UK realise the conflict extended beyond Europe.

According to the report, produced by the British Council, most people's knowledge of the Great War – which began 100 years ago – is limited to fighting on the Western Front.

The document, Remember The World As Well As The War, reveals a lack of understanding of the global scale and impact of the war, and calls on the UK and the rest of the world to use centenary commemorations to help people gain a better understanding of the global nature of the conflict.

Poignant

The Christmas truce when British and German soldiers came together and reportedly played a game of football has become one of the most enduring images of the First World War. The poignant scene will be re-enacted in December as part of the centenary commemorations. Trenches will be dug and carols sung as well.

Staffordshire Regimental Association spokesman Trevor Evans said: "It will show how close together the trenches were. It is bound to be a very moving event."

It is one of a series of events planned to mark the centenary. On August 2 veterans will march through Cannock to the town's war memorial on the 100th anniversary of British troops being mobilised. A concert performed by a military band will take place at the Prince of Wales Centre that evening.

Troops play a game of football during the Great War

The following day a coach will leave for a tour of the Somme battlefields. Those aboard will be at the Menin Gate Memorial to the Missing in Ypres, Belgium, for the sounding of the Last Post, on August 4, the day in 1914 when Britain declared war on Germany. The events are being held in conjunction with Cannock Chase Council which is setting up a heritage trail linking three military attractions – military training camps and war cemeteries, the Staffordshire Regiment Museum in Whittington and the National Memorial Arboretum in Alrewas – to mark the anniversary.

Cloudy2Clear Windows - Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes - not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service Wolverhampton and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people

I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Brian a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Concert tribute raises thousands for charity

HUNDREDS of people packed out a Darlaston venue for a concert dedicated to the late Charlatans drummer Jon Brookes.

Thousands of pounds have been generated for the Brain Tumour Charity – Jon Brookes Fund as a result of the event held at Darlaston All Active.

Mr Brookes, from Burntwood, died last August. The gig was organised by Adam Paget, a lifelong friend of Jon, and by Karen Phipps.

Bands including Isolated Atoms, Junk Monkey, Little Liam, The Rimes, Idle and Spectrum took to the stage as well as Britain's Got Talent singer Connie Talbot, of Streetly.

More than £3,000 is expected to be raised by last Saturday's concert after 500 tickets were snapped up within days.

Mr Paget said: "It was fantastic. We couldn't have hoped for better. The bands have been brilliant and everyone has enjoyed themselves."

Tragedy

"We wanted to do this for Jon and it's great that it's been such a success."

Among those in the audience was Jon's brother Tim who lives in Wednesbury. He said: "It's amazing that from the tragedy of Jon dying from a brain tumour can come something so great like this which has brought the community together."

"The main aim has been to raise as much money as possible for the charity."

Connie, aged 13, said she had rehearsed a set of songs especially for the event which included tunes by Oasis, Snow Patrol and the Stone Roses.

Cannock musician Mark Hollier, a singer with band Marquis Drive, said: "It's great that so many people came together to raise money for such a great cause and in honour of Jon."

"The Charlatans were one of the biggest bands of the 90s so everyone knows them and they mean a lot to people."

Idle perform on stage at the tribute concert

Connie Talbot, aged 13, with her brother Joshua and Heidi McManus

Jon once managed Marquis Drive and the band will donate the proceeds from new single, Heard on this Day, to the Jon Brookes Fund.

Charlatans fan Nici Jones, 39, of Hednesford was at the concert with her friend Louise Lydon, 42, of Sutton Coldfield.

Nici said: "It's all for a very worthwhile cause. The bands have been really good. We've enjoyed it."

An auction helped to boost the coffers with lots including guitars signed by EastEnders' Danny Dyer and the Stereophonics. There was also a raffle with prizes including £500 worth of vouchers from Liam Gallagher's clothing range Pretty Green.

Boxers pleased as punch by donation

A CANNOCK company has supported an amateur boxing club by providing desperately needed kit for its members.

Icon Exhibitions & Display Ltd has donated branded hooded tops to the team at Walsall Wood Amateur Boxing Club. They say they will give the young boxers a positive group identity that shows allegiance to the club, as well as keeping them warm while training.

The tops were created at Icon's manufacturing unit, on Watling Street Business Park, where the company produces professional exhibition stands and effective display solutions.

Icon Exhibitions MD Wayne Ball personally delivered the tops, handing them over to head coach Shaun Healy. Wayne said: "As a company, we like to support and champion local causes, so we're thrilled we could help the club." Shaun said: "It means a lot to the club."

Even more misery as water bills set to rise

HOUSEHOLDERS hit by flooding have been dealt a further blow with the news that water bills are going up.

Severn Trent Water and South Staffs Water have both announced the untimely increases, which will come into effect in April.

Average bills will go up by more than one per cent at a time when wide-scale flooding across the country has forced people to flee their homes.

Homes covered by Severn Trent Water will see bills go up by 1.1 per cent - £3 - to £333 from April, equating to £176 for water and £157 for sewerage services.

Difficult

Bosses defended the increase and insisted that their customers would still receive the lowest bills in England and Wales for the fifth year in a row. The company admitted the bill rise was 'difficult' during the current financial climate.

Spokesman Rob Salmon said: "We recognise that any sort of price rise is difficult because money is tight for our customers."

"However, we continue to

by Tim Spiers

work hard to keep our bills as affordable as possible."

South Staffs Water, meanwhile, insisted it too had worked hard to keep prices down. It announced a 1.3 per cent rise in its bills for 2014/15.

Bosses said its customers would benefit from the third lowest average bills in the country - 23 per cent lower than the national average of £188.

The company is investing £39m during 2014/15 to improve its underground pipe network.

Customer service director Rachel Barber said: "On average, the tap water we provide is under 40p a day."

Artist Pete puts stamp on meeting

CHASE TERRACE

THE club enjoyed a visit from artist Pete Mason, aka the Pop Art Man.

Pete creates his work by recycling used postage stamps. He can use three thousand stamps to create a picture and sometimes uses more than one stamp per square to make up different colours. He now has a sponsor who supplies him with stamps from his warehouse.

Pete was born in Brownhills and went to Lichfield School of Art and progressed to Stafford College of Art and then on to Leeds University. Initially he taught in Lichfield, then in Liverpool and finally in Manor Farm, Walsall.

He is inspired by the Pop Art movement and admires the works of Roy Lichtenstein and Andy Warhol.

Pete has created pictures of Noel Edmonds, Bruce Forsyth, Rachael Heyhoe Flint and Paul O'Grady and presented them. He has also designed pictures of Desmond Tutu, Cliff Richard and Terry Wogan.

Pete designed a picture based on the stained glass window, The Doom, in the Cathedral church of St Philip, Birmingham, depicting an angel. His latest piece marks the 150th year since Toulouse-Lautrec was born.

He was commissioned by Whiteley's shopping centre in Bayswater, London in 2012 to create a portrait of the Queen to celebrate her Diamond Jubilee. It measured 10' x 6' and was made up of 30,000 stamps.

Chairman hands over reins at AGM

LADIES PROBUS CLUB

THE Cannock & District Ladies Probuss Club AGM was held at The Chase Golf Club and at the end of the meeting and a very successful year Barbara Bowman passed the chain of office to new chairman Betty Howard-Evans.

Betty said: "I am delighted to be beginning the year as chairman I hope we shall have a year of friendship and good fun."

The first meeting she will preside over will be on Thursday, March 6 with a talk called 'Isn't Life Funny'?

On April 3, the subject is 'Hats make Character'. The annual dinner will be a big event at The Chase Golf Club with entertainment from Doug Parker, a clean comedian. Tickets will be £18.50 to include a three-course lunch.

Membership is open to retired ladies over the age of 50. For more information telephone the membership secretary 01543 505107. Meetings are held on the first Thursday of every month at The Chase Golf Club.

AGM launches anniversary year

PENKRIDGE FLOWER CLUB

THE club launched its Golden Anniversary Year in January 2014 with the Annual General Meeting.

Chairman Margaret Smallman outlined the exciting programme of events for the celebration year, which includes flower arranging demonstrations by specially chosen national and 'cherry picked' demonstrators, outings, a workshop, a celebration meal and an open night in the Prince of Wales Centre, Cannock in July. The evening then continued informally and everyone enjoyed a cheese and wine buffet and a raffle.

The next meeting will be on February 17 at 7.30pm in the Peace Memorial Hall at Penkridge when Wendy Pitkin will demonstrate doing five flower arrangements to her theme "Spring into Action".

New members and visitors are welcome, so do come along to watch and enjoy.

Education Director Joe Basketts said: "Schools are under growing pressure not only to invest in educational technology but prove that they are using it effectively to make learning a fun, interactive experience.

"The A-Three support package provides an affordable way for schools to implement a strategy of ongoing improvement - they receive the Fantastict 2014 computing framework, a single, expert point of contact throughout the year; support in formulating a long-term vision for IT in the school, ongoing consultancy and staff CPD sessions, regular briefings to keep them up to date with current issues and substantial discounts on other services."

Henry Chadwick headteacher David Werry said: "We have had a lot of new ICT equipment which we want to ensure we make the most of. We are aware of the new computing element in the curriculum coming into force in September and we also want to formalise our work in the area of e-safety."

"The Fantastict package offers support in all of these key areas."

Mourners pack church for Williams memorial

The Cannock Chase Orpheus Male Voice Choir performs at the memorial service in Wolverhampton

AROUND 700 people paid tribute to former Wolves and England goalkeeper Bert Williams at a memorial service.

Family, friends and Wolves supporters packed out St Peter's Collegiate Church in Wolverhampton city centre.

Readings were given by friend and broadcaster Ian Winter and TV presenter Bob Hall, who described Williams as 'only 5ft 9ins tall but a giant of a man'.

A poem written by the 93-year-old, called I Have Seen, was read out by his daughter-in-law Tania Williams.

Gordon Banks and Ron Flowers, a sprinkling of Wolves keepers through the ages also paid their respects.

They were joined by a host of former players and club representatives, including 90-year-old Alf Crook, who played with Williams in 1949.

Fun for children at nursery open day

Joseph Holt, aged one, with his mother and staff member Carla at the Happy Tots open day

PARENTS could see first hand at an open day what sending their child to nursery entails. A Cannock nursery opened its doors for parents, and their children, to find out more.

Youngsters could join in with a host of activities at Happy Tots, at Orbital Plaza, Bridgtown, last Saturday, while parents could listen to advice from those with children that already attend. Nursery manager Sarah Tilsley said: "We had a great turnout, with lots of new parents coming to have a look round. Selecting the right nursery is such an important decision, so we hope the open day has helped parents who are choosing a nursery for the first time."

New parents registering with Happy Tots to start before the end of February will get 25 per cent off one month's fees. Visit www.happy-tots.com or call 01543 509089.

Workshop to spice up life

A THEATRE group is looking for youngsters wishing to spice up their lives during the half-term holiday.

Theatre First have opened their books for young people to join the 'Spice Up Your Life' workshop from February 17 to 21.

It is open for seven-to-20-year-olds and takes place at Great Wyrley Performing Arts High School, Hall Lane, from 9am to 3pm each day, culminating with a public performance at 7pm on the Friday. The workshop will include singing and acting pieces with songs from Honk! Blood Brothers, We Will Rock You, Our House, Spice Girls, Take That and Matilda.

Celebration

The company is also also looking for participants to perform scenes and medleys from classic musicals like Grease. No singing or acting experience is necessary. Director Ellen Mills said: "Our latest workshop is a celebration of British theatre and the most popular musicals and productions that have been seen over the last 20 years."

Musical director Harry Peake said: "Our workshop will hopefully top previous ones, and be an excellent springboard for our summer production of Grease. We are looking for energetic, committed young people to take part."

To book a place call Ellen Mills on 07971378425 or email theatrefirst@gmail.com for further details

Walsall's Webster, the magnificent man in his speedy flying machine

by S. Williams

SOME Walsall people, despite having made a massive contribution locally, nationally or even internationally are almost unknown in the borough these days.

Yet they definitely deserve a place in the history books. One such who, to my mind, deserves a statue on The Bridge, or at the very least a blue plaque on his birthplace, is Sidney Norman 'Pebbler' Webster of the Royal Air Force.

He soared from humble origins to become one of the world's greatest fliers and adventurers.

Born in 1900 at 41 Borneo Street, the son of a Walsall post office overseer, Webster was educated at Chucky and Butts Schools. Even then he was a bit of a daredevil, "...a real lad, not a goody-goody", according to the head of Chucky School in 1927, Mr. E.W. Larkin.

While there his friends gave him the nickname "Pebbler" because of his cheery freckled face. An able and popular student, and sports mad, he played football from age nine, later being captain of the Chucky School First XI.

Webster left school a hundred years ago, just before the Great War. He became a junior railway clerk at Walsall, and later served for a spell in the office of Mr. S. E. Loxton, clerk to the magistrates. In 1918 joined the Royal Air Force, aged just 17. After training he was made 2nd Lieutenant (pilot), and rapid progress followed - by Christmas he was a flying officer.

His first overseas duty was in India, where in 1922 he was awarded the Air Force Cross for a record endurance flight. Returning to England, in 1923 Webster became a test pilot with the Aeroplane and Armament Experimental Establishment, and in 1924 he became a flight lieutenant.

In April 1927 he was selected for the new high speed flight team providing aircraft and crew for the Schneider Trophy air race contests which were held at The Lido, Venice, Italy over a 212 nautical mile course.

Great Britain, Italy and the USA entered, the British entered two Supermarine S5's, piloted by Flt Lts Worsley and Webster, and a Gloster IVB flown by Flt Lt Kinhead. The Supermarine seaplanes, designed by legendary Staffordshire engineer R. J. Mitchell, would be the basis for the Supermarine Spitfire.

Webster went on to win in style, flying at an average of 281.66 mph, a new world record. Stepping nonchalantly from his machine he quietly remarked, "I am so jolly glad I won for Britain. She is going to celebrate. So shall I."

Awarded a bar to his Air Force Cross, he was feted nationally, but the greatest honour was waiting back home in Walsall. He returned, triumphant, on 6 October 1927, to a grand Civic Reception in Walsall Town Hall, hosted by the Mayor, Joseph Leckie.

In front of the Council House, surrounded by pressmen and thousands of locals, the Mayor presented Webster with an oak plaque in honour of his victory.

In 1930, Webster Road was named after him. Between 1933-39 he was seconded to the Egyptian Army Air Force with the rank of Bimbashi (Major). During much of the Second World War he was Liaison Officer between the Air Ministry and the aircraft manufacturing companies.

In 1944 he was appointed Senior Air Staff Officer of HQ No 18 (Reconnaissance) Group, Coastal Command, and later commanded the Marine Aircraft Experimental Establishment. In 1946, by then an Air Commodore, he was awarded a CBE.

In 1946, Webster commanded the RAF station in Hong Kong. Made an Air Vice-Marshal in 1949, he retired in 1950. After a long and happy retirement with his wife, he died in April 1984.

Prints of pictures shown and thousands more are available to purchase by special order, as well as a wide range of books, from Walsall Local History Centre. For local and family history, drop into the centre in Essex Street, which is part of Walsall Council. Telephone 01922 721305.

Catch 'scumbags' call after jewellery stolen

A CHESLYN Hay councillor has appealed for help in catching jewellery thieves described as 'scumbags' by his mother.

Pensioner Sylvia Hollis was left devastated following a raid at her home in Wolverhampton. The callous burglars stole jewellery from four generations of her family.

Rings, watches and a diamond-shaped paperweight – all with great sentimental value – were taken during the break-in at the family home in Ettingshall.

The haul of jewellery and cash was worth thousands of pounds and a desperate appeal has now been made for its safe return and the arrest of those responsible.

Gutted

Her son, Cheslyn Hay councillor Steve Hollis, appealed for information that could lead to the jewellery's return and the conviction of the thieves.

He said: "When I walked into the house I was gutted. I just want to catch these people. There must be someone out there who has information."

Extra police have now been put on patrol.

Among the items taken on January 28 were watches and rings left by Mrs Hollis' late husband Derek and a ring that had been left to Mrs Hollis by a friend who passed away last year.

Also taken was a diamond-shaped paperweight given to the 81-year-old by her late sister which had a note attached saying 'this is the biggest diamond I could find for such a diamond'.

Money belonging to her daughter Debbie and granddaughter Zoe was also taken. Mrs Hollis said: The place

Sylvia Hollis and son Steve with empty jewellery boxes after the burglary was wrecked, they had tipped all the contents of the drawers all over the floor so everything was mixed up. Upstairs was worse.

"I then realised they had taken all my jewellery, my daughter's, my granddaughter's and my mother's."

"These people don't realise how much they have knocked me and my family about. They don't care, they're scumbags. There were items my husband had bought for me, they were all gone. You just expect your home to be secure."

Police have urged anyone with information about the break-in to contact them on 101 or call Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Jamie in spotlight after turning on style

ghd Spotlight contest winner Jamie Richards

The owner of a Great Wyrley hair salon has styled his way to success after winning a national hairdressing competition to discover new talent.

Jamie Richards, director at Richards Hair in Wardles Lane, was crowned the winner of ghd's Spotlight competition.

The 25-year-old, of Great Wyrley, who completed a hairdressing NVQ with the City of Wolverhampton College, was awarded a backstage pass at this month's London Fashion Week, where he will be working with the creative director of ghd, Kenna.

As part of the competition, Mr Richards posted a photograph of his modern twist on the classic ponytail onto the ghd website. He went forward to the finals after his entry was 'liked' by more than 5,400 people.

For the finals, he took part in an editorial style photo shoot in London, creating two different looks for night and day. He said: "This is the first time I've entered the Spotlight competition and I'm completely chuffed to have won."

Sue Cole, programme co-ordinator for hairdressing at the City of Wolverhampton College, said: "It's always great to hear about our former apprentices doing so well."

Survey says town the thinnest in fat region

PEOPLE in Cannock have been revealed as the thinnest in the West Midlands – despite the region being the second fattest area in the country.

New figures reveal almost three quarters of West Midlands people are overweight or obese.

Top of the fat league comes the North East, where 68 per cent of people have a body mass index of 25 or over, closely followed by the West Midlands on 65.7 per cent.

By Tim Spiers

The figures, published by NHS England, also name and shame the fattest areas by local authority – and Dudley and Wolverhampton's do not fare well.

Out of 326 local authorities in England, Dudley comes 33rd in the table with 70.2 per cent of its residents overweight or obese.

Laziest

Wolverhampton is not far behind on 38th with a fat rating of 69.8 per cent.

Stafford scores 69.6 per cent, South Staffordshire 69.5 per cent and Walsall 68.9 per cent.

Sandwell – which was recently revealed to be the second laziest area in England, fares better with 66.3 per cent overweight residents.

But Cannock in the thinnest West Midlands area on just 62.5 per cent, with Lichfield on 66.7 per cent.

The fattest area in the country is deemed to be Copeland, in Cumbria, with 75.9 per cent of its residents deemed to have a serious weight problem.

Tam Fry, from the National Obesity Forum, said: "The publication of these figures has to be welcomed because they will give local authorities a better chance of fighting obesity than did 15 years of tackling the epidemic from Westminster."

Joseph Clift, policy manager at the British Heart Foundation, said: "Put simply, too many people weigh too much."

Family joy as donor for Margot is found

THE parents of Margot Martini have issued a heartfelt thank you to the thousands of people worldwide that supported a campaign to find a bone marrow donor for their little girl.

"The way people have responded is remarkable. We can't thank them enough," said mother Vicki after a match was found for the youngster.

Little Margot has captured the heart of the nation with her red curls and beautiful big brown eyes and more than 50,000 people signed up to a campaign to see if they could be her perfect match.

Vicki and husband Yaser thanked people for their support and urged more people to register as donors to help other families in the same situation.

Margot was diagnosed with leukaemia aged just 14 months - sparking a worldwide hunt to find her perfect stem cell match.

Yaser and Vicki with Margot

Adequate

Now aged 17-months, she has been undergoing chemotherapy while the search to find her perfect match continued. And last Friday, it was announced a donor had been found.

Doctors believe the man who has come forward will be an adequate match.

Vicki, aged 38, originally from Essington and a former Cheslyn Hay schoolgirl, said: "We are pleased that we are moving in the right direction.

"Because it's not a perfect match there will be issues.

"They don't know what her chances are because there's such little data on this. They don't have any comparisons because what she's got is not straightforward, but a bone marrow transplant is her best hope."

She added: "We have been incredibly fortunate in how she has responded so far and we are very hopeful that she is going to continue.

"She is very resilient. She has got spirit and character and that is carrying her through."

Yaser and Vicki are still encouraging people to get swabbed to help find donors for the 37,000 people worldwide who need them. A swabbing day takes place at the Mount Hotel, Tettenhall Wood, on February 23 from 10am to 4pm.

3,500 bricks in tribute to old mine workers

ORGANISERS hope the laying of bricks at the third phase of a mining memorial in Hednesford should be completed before this month is out.

More than 900 engraved bricks are being laid as part of the Chaps (Chase Art in Public Spaces) project. This will bring the total of named bricks to in excess of 3,500.

The original bricks were built into a wall which surrounds the iconic Davy Lamp memorial.

Phase two saw bricks laid around flower beds adjacent to the wall and linked to it by a series of paving slabs engraved with the names of the coalfields. The final phase will also see bricks laid around the flower beds which surround the clock tower. Weather permitting, it should be completed by the end of February.

The Chaps committee is currently making arrangements for a Dedication Service which will take place in April or May.

Heritage

Announcements will be made in the press as well as online at www.chaseartsfor-publicspaces.co.uk

A spokesman said: "Chaps are delighted to work with the community to ensure that the mining heritage of the area and the miners who worked in the coalfields will always be remembered."

Damning report was 'a turning point for NHS'

THE damning Francis Report into the failings at Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust has been described as a 'turning point' for the NHS – a year since it was published.

Its findings laid bare hard truths of cover-ups and appalling standards of care at Stafford Hospital and heard that hundreds of patients may have died because of neglect.

The public inquiry only took place after tireless campaigning from Cure the NHS led by Julie Bailey, whose mother Bella died in the hospital.

The lesson of Mid Staffs is to be more honest, more quickly when things go wrong, said health secretary Jeremy Hunt said.

Focus

Mr Hunt, who accepted all but nine of Robert Francis's 290 recommended reforms, said there was already indicators that the culture of the health service was changing.

He said: "There are encouraging signs that a 'Francis Effect' is under way in our hospitals, with more nurses, greater transparency, and compassionate care replacing tick-box targets as the major focus on boards and wards. I believe the Francis Inquiry will mark a turning point in the history of the NHS."

Stafford Borough Council leader Mike Heenan said the inquiry had been a force for huge change in the NHS. He said: "The legacy of Stafford Hospital is that the patient must come first. What happened was awful and for those who suffered the loss of loved ones will always feel that pain."

Health secretary Jeremy Hunt

Council leader Mike Heenan

Campaigner Julie Bailey

Robert Francis QC

"But hopefully putting patient care as the top priority can be the good which has come out of it."

Staffordshire and Stoke on Trent Partnership NHS Trust, which has hired former abused Stafford Hospital nurse Helene Donnelly as a cultural change ambassador, revealed it was setting up an independent body to deal with complaints. Siobhan Heafield, Director of Nursing and Quality, will lead the introduction of the new approach. Mr Francis uncovered numerous failings and called for 'a fundamental culture change' to make the health service improve standards of care and deal properly with its failures.

Comedy purist Delaney is quick off the draw

QUICK-OFF-THE-DRAW comic Gary Delaney brings his razor-sharp wit to Wolverhampton later this month.

A double Sony Award winner and Chortle Award nominee – as well as the husband of Sarah Millican – Delaney has become a regular face on the likes of Mock the Week and in 2013 also featured on Dave TV's Top 10 Jokes of the Fringe List.

He brings his 'Purist' tour to Wolverhampton's Slade Rooms on Thursday, February 20, with dates at other new locations including "cool places Kidderminster, Norwich and the Isle of Wight, pretty much the same route Beyonce would be taking I imagine," quipped Delaney.

The 40-year-old Solihull-born funnyman always looks forward to performing in this part of the world, describing it as one of the best areas of the country for comedy.

Naughty

"For me the best areas of the UK for comedy are the North East and the West Midlands. Both really responsive up for it crowds, who are clever enough to get more subtle jokes and unpretentious enough to not be offended by the naughty bits."

He also praised Birmingham Glee Club's new material night, where his latest musings are trialled, one Sunday a month in the little Studio Room.

"It's an amazing atmosphere," he said. "It's important to have nights like this, so you can edit out all the chaff before the paying punters come to see you on tour."

"They only want to hear the gold obviously."

But does he prefer Wolverhampton or Birmingham? "Can I split the difference and say Dudley?" he answered.

Off the stage, Delaney admits to being a bit of a geek, sitting in his office writing jokes. "I also enjoy regularly deleting my browser history," he said.

Gary Delaney, who will be at the Slade Rooms on February 20

Delaney added he also held an unhealthy interest in zombies and had written a Zombie-themed sketch show for children.

He is now pitching some ideas to TV executives in the hope of re-establishing the sketch-based format. But what does he miss most when he's on the road?

"Vegetables, my cats, my wife, and I probably shouldn't have put those in that order."

Doors open at 7pm and tickets are £15.40 from 0870 320 7000 or at box office@wolvescivic.co.uk

Glass gift's link to a family tragedy

A GLASS pen holder has revealed a tragic tale of birth and death following a meeting between its owner and the family of its creator, more than 70 years after it was made.

Owner Graham Morris, of Cannock, had little idea about the heartbreaking story behind the perfectly-crafted piece he inherited from his mother and former midwife Sister Clara Morris after she died in 1993.

But following a meeting with the family of the maker William Henry Swingewood senior, the 66-year-old has had it confirmed it was presented as a gift to his mother who delivered Mr Swingewood's grandson John in King William Street in Amblecote, Wordsley, in 1940.

Complications

The sad twist to the tale is that Sister Morris was unable to save John Swingewood's mother Lily, who died nine days later because of complications from giving birth.

John Swingewood, aged 74, was looked after by grandparents Lily and Mr Swingewood senior, who was a renowned glass maker in the Black Country at the start of the 20th century.

Last week John Swingewood and his son Paul, 48, met with Mr Morris to connect their life stories.

Business park work to create jobs boost

WORK to carry out improvements at a business park in Cannock could begin within weeks, subject to approval from the county council's cabinet.

The development, if given the go-ahead next week, would create more jobs at Kingswood Lakeside, located in a prime location next to the M6 Toll Road and already home to leading national businesses.

Development of the park was first given approval in 2002 on the site of a former opencast coal mine.

Environmental firm Veolia built its three-storey headquarters for a workforce of 400 and logistics firm APC moved into a £15m distribution centre which employs 420 people.

Plots

The county council is now in negotiations to develop a further two plots which would create 150 jobs.

Improving the infrastructure at Kingswood Lakeside would involve ground works being carried out on the remaining plots. Work would also be carried out on roads through the site.

At its meeting next Wednesday, February 19, the county council's cabinet will be asked to approve an additional investment of £650,000.

County Council cabinet member for economy and infrastructure Mark Waddington said: "Kingswood Lakeside is one of our main business sites where a number of companies are already successfully operating and playing their part in the county's economy drive."

"Despite challenging conditions in recent years, we have still attracted leading businesses to the site."

"We now need to carry out work on the remaining plots and also the site's road network so that we can bring in more investment and ensure it continues to thrive in the long-term."

Plea over base for HS2 skills academy

THOUSANDS of apprentice engineers for the HS2 rail line could be based in Stafford.

A new specialist college is being lined up to fill the void left by the town's Beaconside campus of Staffordshire University and civic leaders have earmarked Beaconside as an ideal location.

They have written to Transport Secretary Patrick McLoughlin, a former Cannock miner, calling for the planned HS2 Skills Academy to be based in the town.

The town's biggest private sector employer Alstom – a leading high speed rail firms – backed the bid for the county town to become home to the new college.

Stafford Borough Council leader Mike Heenan said with the university leaving the town by 2016 there would be ready-made facilities and accommodation to be used for the HS2 Skills Academy.

Patrick McLoughlin MP

Facilities

Talks were held last week to discuss new uses for the Beaconside site when students move out following the decision by the university to leave the town.

Councillor Heenan said: "Stafford is ideally placed for the academy. We will have world-class facilities and accommodation already in place at Beaconside and it is important to note Stafford is a railway town with a rich history and association with the railway."

"We also have Alstom based here and they will be one of a number of firms we will be talking to."

"We will have 27 miles of HS2 coming through the borough and with the jobs the academy could create, it will go some measure to addressing some of the things we have raised about a lack of economic benefit from HS2 for Stafford."

He added: "Whether HS2 goes ahead or not, we will continue to fight for proper compensation and mitigation and it would be foolish not to try and secure jobs and economic benefits."

Terence Watson, Alstom's UK president, said: "We're proud of our deep involvement in Stafford and we can think of no better place for the HS2 Skills Academy to be located."

The first new Further Education College in Britain for 20 years, it will deliver specialised training and qualifications for the £50bn high speed rail project. It is expected that HS2 will create up to 2,000 apprentices during the lifetime of construction.

Open day gives taster of new swim academy

LEARNER swimmers and their parents can find out all about a pool academy at Penkridge Leisure Centre next week.

The Cannock Road venue is hosting an open day on Monday (February 17) from 4-6pm so visitors can learn about the new STA South Staffordshire Swim Academy.

The council has signed a partnership agreement with the Swimming Teachers' Association (STA) to run lessons at four leisure centres, including Penkridge and Cheslyn Hay. The group's mascot, STANley the Seal, will visit for the open day, where a number of taster swim lessons, a lifesaving taster session, fun races and mini water polo will be held.

The academy programme, the seventh that STA has launched in England. Val Law, of Penkridge Leisure Centre, said the open day would give youngsters the chance to experience the lessons and take part in fun activities.

Theo Millward, STA's operations director, said: "These open days give parents and children the ideal opportunity to see for themselves how we run lessons and what fun they have when they learn to swim."

To book for activities on the open day, or the swim academy lessons, call Val Law on 01785 714152.

Awash with dished up philosophy

The Dishwashers
Birmingham Repertory Theatre
MORRIS Panych's play, making its UK premiere in Birmingham, poses more questions than it answers and makes you work for whatever solutions you can muster.

of life are tackled with touches of poetry and an almost agonising humour. Taking centre stage is David Essex's Dressler, a man who has devoted 30 years to his dishes and is awash with philosophy. He has theories on class, work ethic, love and death. Alongside him is the striking TV actor Rik Makarem, who plays 'new boy' Emmett, who has fallen on hard times and straight into the job. He confronts and goads Dressler - who confronts and goads him back - while showing a tenderness to past-it Moss, played very impressively by Andrew Jarvis, whose wild-haired drunkard act bears more than a passing resemblance to Craggy Island's Father Jack. After a rather slow and quiet start, the team gathered pace and drew us wonderfully into their individual stories.

Sad tales but ones with hope and lessons on contentment and the evils of greed. Dishwashers runs until February 15.

Sermanni is a siren

Transatlantic Sessions
Symphony Hall, B-ham
IF Carlsberg did folk orchestras then it would probably have looked something like the line up which graced the stage at Symphony Hall, Birmingham.

The Young'uns
Newhampton Folk Club
YOU could say when it comes to voices you get your money's worth with Sean Cooney, David Eagles and Michael Hughes, collectively known as The Young'Uns, as they spend almost as much time engaging in banter as they do singing.

first time with Eagles on the accordion and Hughes on the guitar for Love In A Northern Town and for all of their irreverence you can tell they take both their execution and the tradition of their music and singing very seriously. The instruments added an extra dimension to their strong harmonies, bringing a nice binding to the trio's jaunty number and gentler tones.

Rachel Sermanni
Glee Club (Studio), B-ham
RACHEL Sermanni's stunning voice comes straight out of mythology.

If the songs of sirens or the music of fairy rings were real they would surely sound as haunting and alluring as hers. Returning to the Glee in Birmingham there was this time something different about this young, Strathspey singer. Her tone seems more mature and at times had a slight smoky quality.

Her voice seems to have endless range and a power which belies her sweet looking features and seemingly vulnerable demeanour. The 22-year-old Scottish songstress opened with Two Birds from her latest EP Everything Changes.

She moved into the strong ballad Breathe Easy, with her voice rolling up and down like the sea of which she was singing. Her next offering, Bones, was a real torch song in which she let her voice loose with passion.

Sermanni sang Marsh-mallow Unicorn, which is massively popular with her growing army of fans. DF

The group from the North East, more specifically Stockton on Tees, launched into Jack Ironside, unplugged. Using purely their impressive voices in the packed out upper room of the Newhampton Inn, their harmonious sounds filled every corner of the venue. The song had real steel in its delivery and was made all the more enjoyable by their strong accents.

They have harmonising down to a fine art while keeping their individual styles very distinct with Eagle's raucous voice adding a real edge which is softened by Cooney's tenor voice and both are upheld and woven together with Hughes' soft, deep tones. They filled the night with sea shanties, love songs and songs with poignant social comment. The Young'uns new album Never Forget is due for release on March 17.

Danny Farragher

The night gave the stage to soloists such as award-winning singer/songwriter Kris Drever, Texan Sarah Jarosz and one of the season highlights of the session Hebridean songstress Julie Fowlis, who did the rather novel antic of singing The Beatles' classic ballad, Blackbird, in Gaelic. DF

Bigger, better vow on movie-theme carnival

A MEETING will be held next week to discuss this year's Brereton Carnival.

Volunteers are being asked to come forward and help out with the procession on July 12. The theme will be a day at the movies.

The carnival had initially run from 1977-86. It was revived last year by the Brereton & Ravenhill Association for Community Events (Brace) after a 26-year absence.

Spokesman Natalie Pettit said: "Last year's carnival was a huge success which demonstrated what a fantastic community we have."

"We hope to build on this and make this year's even bigger and better."

Floats

The meeting takes place at 7pm on February 19 at The Castle Pub in Main Road, Brereton.

For details visit www.brace.btkc.co.uk

On the day there will be a procession of floats and displays as well as stalls, food and refreshments.

Organisers have also arranged a family disco on March 1 from 6.30-9.30pm to raise money for the carnival.

It will be held at Ravenhill Parish Hall and there will be a bar, tuck shop and a raffle.

Fundraising day

VISITORS to a garden centre near Rugeley can take part in a number of activities to raise money for charity tomorrow (Friday).

There will be a series of gardening demonstrations and displays at the Wolsley Bridge centre from 9am to 5pm. Staff will also be on hand to give handy hints to keen gardeners.

Money raised will go towards Greenfingers charity which helps create gardens at children's hospices.

For further details call the garden centre on 01889 574884.

New chapter for Anouska

Anouska Knight of Rugeley with her novel 'Since You've Been Gone'

THIS time last year Anouska Knight was juggling life as a mother-of-two while looking for part-time work.

Now she is to have her second novel published after winning a writing competition featured on Lorraine Kelly's daytime television show. She is also expecting her third child.

Mrs Knight, of St Anthony's

Close, Rugeley, won the 'Racy Reads' contest after cooking up a raunchy novel, Since You've Been Gone, published by Mills and Boon.

She was whisked to Los Angeles for a meeting with author Jackie Collins, who gave her advice for her next book which will be published in June. It revolves around a young woman who has her life mapped out until it all starts to unravel.

We're the nation's heart charity. Our vision is a world where people don't die prematurely from heart disease. We'll achieve this through pioneering research, vital prevention activity and ensuring quality care and support for everyone living with heart disease.

To make all this work possible, we rely on your generous donation of time and money.

If you have any questions about making a donation, please contact us or call us on 0300 330 3322. British Heart Foundation is a registered Charity No. 225971. Registered as a Company limited by guarantee in England & Wales No. 699547. Registered office at Great London House, 180 Hampstead Road, London NW1 7AW. Registered as a Charity in Scotland No. SC039426.

Facts about the British Heart Foundation

For over 50 years we've pioneered research that's transformed the lives of people living with heart and circulatory conditions. Our work has been central to the discoveries of vital treatments that are changing the fight against heart disease. Life-saving research

We spent over £81.1 million on general medical research in 2012/13 - the equivalent of £154 per minute. In addition, we spent over £9.5 million on research to find a cure for heart failure funded by the Mending Broken Hearts Appeal.

We are currently funding over 1,100 research projects investigating every aspect of heart and circulatory disease - from causes and safer drugs to improving surgical techniques. We have 32 BHF professors and fund BHF Centres of Research Excellence at six UK universities.

Preventing heart disease

We distribute over 5 million heart health resources each year, including booklets, leaflets and DVDs. We run 27 Heartly Lives programmes across the UK, helping to tackle inequalities. Our Heart Matters magazine has a UK-wide readership of over 1 million. Our Health at Work scheme has over 7,100 members, helping British firms to keep their employees heart healthy.

Caring for people with heart disease

We support 1,042 healthcare professionals across the UK, including around 750 heart nurses, who help improve the care of patients. Our Heart Helpline receives 1,700 calls each month. We have 3,641 Heartbeat schemes running across the UK, teaching people skills that will save a life in a medical emergency, including 2,896 schemes in schools. We have helped place over 10,200 life-saving defibrillators in communities around the UK.

Our Hands-only CPR campaign, asking bystanders to give hard and fast chest compressions if someone has collapsed and isn't breathing normally, has helped save 39 lives.

On the high street

We have 735 shops and stores across the UK, including 165 Furniture & Electrical Stores.

In 2012/13, our retail profit was more than £34.7 million. Our charity Shops and Furniture & Electrical Stores sell around 85,000 items every day. Our shops and stores receive over 100 million visitors every year.

Our work

For every pound donated to us, we spend 81p of it to help fight heart disease by funding groundbreaking research and life-saving work in prevention and care. There are more than 3,000 staff working for us across England, Scotland, Northern Ireland and Wales.

We have 24,500 volunteers - 21,800 in retail and a further 2,700 community volunteers.

Our net income in 2012/13 was £133.3 million and our charitable expenditure was £120.2 million. The difference between our income and charitable expenditure helps us generate more funds for our life-saving work and keeps the charity running smoothly and efficiently.

Donate by cheque

If you wish to send us a cheque, please make it payable to the 'British Heart Foundation' and take it to your local BHF Shop or post it to: BHF Customer Service Centre, Lyndon Place, 2096 Coventry Road, Sheldon, Birmingham, B26 3YU.

The Voice UK BBC1, 7.10pm
This is the penultimate week of blind auditions and the last few hopefuls need those chairs to spin round more than ever in the hope of becoming one of the stars' respective dozen. Team Kylie's Jai, Ricky recruit Kelsey-Beth, Tom's tuneless hopeful Maïred Conlon and Will.i.am's Jermain Jackson may all have great voices, but there's no guarantee we'll remember any of them in a few months' time. Let's hope their post-Voice careers are not totally eclipsed by the new X Factor recruits when they debut in August.

Aidan McArdle

Mr Selfridge
ITV, 9pm
With many of the department store's men away fighting in France, it's up to the ladies to step up and take their places both on the shop floor and behind the scenes. Unfortunately, it's a move that doesn't go down well with Crabb - until Henry gives him a mission that involves training them up. But will he choose to accept it? What the women should wear while carrying out menial tasks also causes problems - skirts and petticoats simply aren't suitable for working in the leading bay. Meanwhile, Thackeray grows suspicious of Henri.

Pick of the Week

The stars are out to shine on a night of celebration

The cream of the British movie industry are out in force, along with worldwide talent, to celebrate the best in global cinema at the Bafta Film Awards.

Hot favourite to win a few gongs this year is 12 Years A Slave, which is up for Best Film, Best Adapted Screenplay (John Ridley), Best Actor (Chiwetel Ejiofor), Best Music (Hans Zimmer), and other gongs including Best Cinematography. However, the likes of American Hustle and Captain Phillips could give Steve McQueen's drama a run for its money.

There's no shortage of quality in the Outstanding British Film section either. Alfonso Cuarón's sci-fi blockbuster Gravity is up against Clio Barnard's award-winner The Selfish Giant, as well as biopics Mandela: Long Walk To Freedom, drama Philomena, which was co-written by Steve Coogan; Ron Howard's James Hunt/Niki Lauda drama Rush, and making-of-Mary-Poppins saga Saving Mr Banks.

The latter was penned by Kelly Marcel, who is one of the names nominated for the Outstanding Debut Award, along with Colin Carberry and Glenn Patterson, the writers of much-loved music drama Good Vibrations.

There's a strong chance Gravity will romp home with Best Visual Effects, though Iron Man 3, Pacific Rim and Star Trek Into Darkness all delivered some eye-popping visuals in 2013; fellow contender The Hobbit: The Desolation of Smaug was also dazzling – in places. We have no idea who will win what, but we can tell you that Helen Mirren will be picking up the Bafta Fellowship award for her impressive body of work.

As ever there will be a tribute to some of the great film-makers and stars we lost over the past year, including the much-missed Peter O'Toole, Philip Seymour Hoffman, Mel Smith and James Gandolfini. Host Stephen Fry (one of the best things about the aforementioned Hobbit sequel) will be guiding us through the proceedings from the Royal Opera House in London's Covent Garden.

This is his ninth time fronting the bash, and the fact last year's show was one of the highest rated since 2004 means he must be doing something right. "I am really thrilled and honoured to have been asked to host the E.E. British Academy Film Awards again," he remarks.

Despite always suffering from nerves before such a prestigious event, and being terrified that something will go wrong and he'll make a fool of himself, Fry looks forward to this annual event as much as any movie lover because he's so passionate about the medium.

"Film is one of the arts that most spreads the essence of our identity around the world," he explains. "Our admiration and appreciation of global film-making ensures that the E.E. British Academy Film Awards sit comfortably on the world stage of film awards events honouring the best of the best." So plump up the cushions, charge your glasses and settle down for one of the most star-studded nights in the showbiz calendar.

Even if films aren't your cup of tea, Fry's script is always a treat, while those posh frocks will leave fashionistas rubbing their hands with glee.

Stephen Fry hosts The British Academy Film Awards, Sunday, BBC1, 9pm

Best of the Rest

MONDAY

DCI Banks

ITV, 9pm

That DCI Banks doesn't get a minute's peace, does he? If he's not tearing around nailing the local baddies, it's his love life that's in a spin. And things aren't about to settle down for the cop - in either camp - anytime soon. In tonight's episode, investigative journalist Matt Barber is found dead in a holiday chalet in a remote village, and Banks and the team are overwhelmed by the number of leads they seem to have. However, the detective soon discovers a connection between Barber and a mysterious death in the 1980s, revolving around the surviving members of cult rock band The Crystal Kiss. Banks gets a shock when a link between a suspect and Annie reveals secrets from her personal life.

TUESDAY

Live UEFA Champions League
ITV, 7.30pm

Manchester City welcome Spanish champions Barcelona to the Etihad Stadium for this highly anticipated last-16 first-leg contest. This is the first time City have progressed past the group stage of the Champions League, and they would have hoped for an easier tie than this one. Much of their difficulty was due to them finishing second in their group behind holders Bayern Munich and therefore having to play a group winner, although they can take confidence from their outstanding home record, with their recent defeat against Chelsea and a loss to Bayern their only blips in front of their own fans this season.

Sexting Teacher Channel 4, 10pm

When maths teacher Jeremy Forrest ran away to France with a 15-year-old pupil, he made headlines – and ended up in prison. But this documentary suggests that he was also part of a worrying trend of relationships between teachers and their underage students. While some people who can remember listening to schoolyard gossip may argue this isn't an entirely new phenomenon, the use of social media and smartphones appears to be making it increasingly easy for these relationships to form. By looking at Foster's case, as well as two others which ultimately led to a teacher being convicted (the names in these cases have been changed), the programme looks at what can be done to tackle the problem, and the dangers to the youngsters involved.

WEDNESDAY Brit Awards 2014

ITV, 8pm

If the Baftas has left you hungry for more high profile London-based back-slapping then you're in for a treat as James Corden returns to host this annual music awards ceremony. Live from the O2 Arena, the 34th event will see a new Brit statuette make its debut, while two of the most ubiquitous acts of the night should be electronic London rockers Bastille, and drum and bass quartet Rudimental. Not only are both performing, they are also up for several gongs, including Best British Group (alongside the Arctic Monkeys, Disclosure and One Direction); British Album of the Year, and British Single of the Year. Other acts taking to the stage are Arctic Monkeys, Katy Perry, Ellie Goulding and Bruno Mars.

Suspects

Channel 5, 10pm

As the improv cops-and-robbers show continues, an assault on Kirk Hawthorne (Robert Boulton), owner of East London's Green Pit nightclub, gives Jack (Damien Molony) and Charlie (Clare Hope-Ashley) no end of problems. The victim's sister Ziggy is unconscious in the cellar, with a bleeding head wound. Though Kirk's injury is not serious, Ziggy is suffering from a brain haemorrhage, and also a possible drugs overdose. The detectives' investigation is hampered by the lack of the club's security CCTV recorder, which is missing from the premises. However, the death of 19-year-old student Tom Yeoman provides a couple of clues to the case, he's in possession of the same drug Ziggy took. Fay Ripley also stars as big cheese, DJ Martha Bellamy.

Brit Awards 2014, Wednesday, ITV, 8pm

THURSDAY

Inspector George Gently
BBC1, 8.30pm

Gently and Bacchus investigate a murder carried out by a former serviceman who claims to have been given LSD by scientists. According to the brother of Scott Tanner – the man accused of the killing – he isn't capable of hurting anybody. All the evidence suggests otherwise, but Gently feels he's made a breakthrough when he discovers that Scott had been seeing psychiatrist Dr Lesley after showing signs of schizophrenia. When Lesley is also found murdered, Gently questions his former associate, Dr Jennifer Bing, and what she says makes him wonder if a cover-up is going on. Meanwhile, frustrated at the lack of movement in the case, Mark decides to take matters into his own hands – a move that could prove disastrous for all concerned.

FRIDAY

Live Six Nations Rugby Union
BBC1, 7.55pm

The third round of Six Nations matches gets under way this evening under the lights of the Millennium Stadium in Cardiff, as Wales and France meet in a fixture that could go a long way to deciding the destination of the title. Both nations won on the opening weekend of the season, and another victory here would be a significant step in the quest to finish top of the standings, especially for Wales as they look to win a third successive title. This is a clash which also holds an intriguing sub-plot – many of French rugby's woes have been blamed on the influx of foreign players into the cash-rich Top 14 league, of which Wales have provided several...

Golf GTI is still the best hot-hatch in its division

The Volkswagen Golf GTI wears one of the most iconic badges around and the Mk7 model is a class act. Available in 220PS standard power or in 230PS Performance Pack guise, the GTI is bigger, quicker, better built and more efficient than ever before. Three doors or five, manual gearbox or semi-auto, this one's still the best all-rounder in the hot hatch division, writes David Banner.

Just as the hot hatch class as a whole has been through lean years and good times, that's also been the case with the Golf GTI. And although it's grown into an automotive icon, there were long periods when the Golf GTI wasn't the best car in its class.

That changed with the introduction of the Mk5 back in 2004; a car that saw the Golf charge back to the head of the class.

The evolutionary Golf Mk6 continued that trend in 2008 and while the runout GTI 35 models are crackers, towards the end of its life, the GTI Mk6 was beginning to come under challenge from a whole host of hugely talented rivals.

Volkswagen's answer? This car: the seventh generation Golf GTI. Here's a model that's been redesigned from the ground up and which offers more choice, better value, more efficiency and, if you choose the optional Performance Pack, more than double the power of the original Golf GTI.

That 1976 car was designed to be an affordable and practical performance hatch which you could use every day.

The standard issue Golf GTI makes 220PS which will send this 1,330kg car to 62mph in a crisp 6.5 seconds on the way to a top end that's a squeak over 150mph.

Decisions

From that base point you have basically three major decisions to make; whether to opt for three doors or five, whether to stick with the manual gearbox or plump for the DSG twin-clutch transmission and whether to be content with 220PS under your right boot or fork out the extra for the 230PS Performance Pack version.

That'll set you back around a grand and also includes bigger brake discs and an electronically controlled clutch pack in the differential, which directs the nose into corners more keenly, but doesn't tug on the steering wheel as a traditional mechanical system will.

I'd really struggle with the transmission issue. Both have their proponents and there's no doubt that the slick six-speed manual gearbox offers a much closer bond with the car and rewards driver skill, but on the schlep home from work when I'm stuck in traffic and I'm just looking forward to a cup of tea and putting my feet up, the DSG seems worth every penny.

You might well ask what is the point of buying a GTI if not for driver involvement, but remember, this isn't a car in the vein of a Renaultsport Megane 265.

Yes, you could conceivably take it on a track day and you'd probably have a lot of fun, but it's a more mature and versatile proposition.

If you had to pick one word to describe the GTI's exterior design it would probably be 'subtle' but then this is a model that's never been about fairy spoilers and drainpipe exhausts.

Instead you get a car that sits 15mm lower to the road than its humbler siblings, the 18in alloy wheels filling the arches purposefully.

As is usually the case, the three-door car looks a bit better than the five-door body, the longer doors having the visual effect of lengthening and lowering the profile.

Drop inside and you'll be greeted by some fairly loud 'Jacara' tartan cloth upholstery.

Should that prove a bit too much for you, Volkswagen can happily deliver your Golf with black leather seats instead, for a fee of course.

Prices start at just over £26,000 for a three-door manual Golf GTI which is a premium of around £500 over its diesel-powered sibling, the 184PS Golf GTD.

So despite this Mk7 GTI being bigger and better equipped than its predecessor, it's also lighter and more efficient.

Now Chevy set to drive forward with its compact

Already established as a solid and popular option at the budget end of the compact seven-seat SUV market, this further improved version of Chevrolet's first generation Captiva has a smarter front end and a package of trim improvements to keep it current. It's also better value these days.

The first generation Captiva was launched in 2007. Although its badge might have been American, nothing else about this Korean-built model was.

Instead, we got a Far Eastern confection that was pretty much like most affordable Far Eastern family cars: well packaged and well equipped but a bit plasticky inside with a rather noisy diesel engine. With higher quality, a more efficient engine range and a bit of Chevy character, it could have been very good. And still might be perhaps.

The car was substantially revised in the Spring of 2011 when the pre-facelift model's rumble old 150PS 2.0-litre diesel was replaced with a couple of pokier, more refined 2.2-litre diesel units, developing either 163PS or 184PS. The suspension was revised at that point too and we got a good-looking proper Americana Chevy-style front end. It gave the car a bit of a new lease of life on paper – but not enough to make very much difference to the sales figures. Still, Chevrolet has persisted and the version we're going to look at here got further improvements in the summer of 2013, with visual tweaks and trim upgrades.

Get behind the wheel and the raised driving position SUV customers love so much is present and correct. The original Captiva featured Chevrolet's first diesel engine of the modern era and though that 150PS 2.0-litre unit was a decent first effort, what was just about acceptable back in 2007 was sounding distinctly rough three years on.

So its replacement in 2011 with the 2.2-litre engine still used here was timely. The entry-level front-driven Captiva has a 163PS version of this unit, but most AWD versions have the torquier 184PS derivative we tried, good for rest to 60 in 9.3 seconds on the way to 124mph in manual form or 9.8 seconds and 118mph if the slight clunkiness of said gearchange causes you instead to opt for the redesigned six-speed automatic transmission.

It's nice to have the extra power, but what we noticed more from this engine on the move is its greater refinement. You do feel the kerb weight of nearly two tonnes as you thread your way through tight bends, but it's nothing you couldn't quite happily live with should the need arise to hurry along your progress.

The on-demand all-wheel drive underpinnings aren't changed in any significant respect but then they didn't need to be. It isn't a Land Rover-rivalling set-up, aimed more at muddy car parks than mountains, but useful approach and departure angles, Hill Start Assist to get you up steep slopes and Hill Descent Control to help you down them all mean that this car should be able to handle almost anything most owners will come across.

Statement

Since 2011, this car has made a more powerful visual statement, something that Chevrolet hopes to have further enhanced with a range of small but significant aesthetic tweaks. So there are now LED tail lamps, angular chrome exhaust tips and a remodelled bumper. Up front, there's a smarter lower bumper and a revised grille mesh as well as restyled fog lamps. Stylish 18in alloy wheels hope to further enhance the Captiva's road presence.

The airy and spacious cabin gets smarter fabrics, trim materials and colours but isn't the classiest in the segment. The instruments feature signature Chevrolet ice-blue backlighting with everything being easy to read and falling neatly to hand. It's easy to find a comfortable driving position too, thanks to plenty of adjustment through both seat and steering wheel.

In the second seating row, both head and shoulder room are adequate and though you can't improve legroom by sliding the seat base back and forth, you can recline the backrest for greater comfort on longer journeys. Behind, there's a couple of occasional seats that fold out from the boot floor, but their cushion height is so close to the deck that they're really only suitable for kids or adults on very short journeys.

As for luggage space, though it's predictably mean at 97-litres with all seven seats occupied, though the separately-opening rear window is a neat touch, meaning that you don't need to lug up the rear tailgate if all you want to do is throw in a sportsbag. If you do need space for bigger items, you'll find up to 769-litres of fresh air is on offer when, more typically, you're not using the occasional third row of seats. And the five-seat version which doesn't have them adds to that further with an additional storage compartment under the boot floor. If you're able to fold the 50:50 split-folding second row of seating down as well to create a flat loadfloor, then you'll increase your luggage capacity to 1,577-litres.

The Captiva's pricing, in the £21,500 to £31,500 bracket, is a mark of the importer's confidence in what these days is a much better product. Though the entry-level 2.2-litre 163PS front-driven five-seat version is for some reason a few hundred pounds more than its almost identical five-seat-only Vauxhall Antara cousin, it's clear Chevy's marketers were more interested in undercutting rivals.

New Honda Civic set to be a winner in its sector

The Honda Civic might just be at its best in sleek Tourer guise. With 642-litres of luggage room with the rear seats in place and the cleverest seat folding system in the business, it's well worth a look.

Small estate cars are usually horrible. The styling never quite works, the cars looking like a hall of mirrors version of a bigger car, too high, not long enough and with an uncomfortable afterthought of glazing squiring the back end.

Every once in a while, an exception slips through the net, forcing you to wonder why car manufacturers find it so difficult to style what should be a longer and sleeker version of a supermini or family hatch. Here's one to join that exclusive list, the Honda Civic Tourer.

This estate version of the ninth generation Civic is built in Britain and doesn't come saddled with huge expectations. The compact estate car market has always been a bit of a backwater niche over here, so perhaps it's time for one model to get a solid run at it and turn things around.

So why does the Civic Tourer look so different to the usual cut and paste compact estate designs?

The first thing to note is that there's a genuinely cohesive front-to-rear flow to the design.

The rear end doesn't look like a hasty addition. Its styling is defined by a bold line that runs continuously from the front A-pillar to the D-pillar, creating the impression of a floating roof line.

The glass of the rear quarter window has been extended to cover the body work of the D-pillar and the rear door sash has been raised by 17mm compared to the Civic hatchback to create this bold styling line.

Inside, you get probably the best one-handed seat folding operation in the business – Honda's Magic Seats system. The interior boot floor has been raised compared to the hatchback to create a completely flat area when the seats are folded down. The rear seat cushions can also be flipped up to reveal ample floorspace for carrying tall objects. A 60:40 split in the seat base offers even more options for carrying both people and cargo. You get 624 cubic litres of boot volume with the rear seats in place and up to 1668-litres when they're folded.

Prices start at just over £20,000 for the base 1.8 i-VTEC petrol model, so you're talking a premium of around £1,900 over the equivalent five-door hatch. There's a choice of two engines, a 142PS 1.8 i-VTEC petrol with auto or manual transmission and manual gearbox 120PS 1.6 i-DTEC diesel.

As for equipment, well even the entry level S grade includes features such as Bluetooth Hands Free Telephone (HFT), DAB Radio, USB connectivity and 16in alloy wheels.

Benefit

In addition to these items, the SE Plus, the next level up, has rear parking sensors and 17in alloys, whilst SR customers will benefit from the new world first rear Adaptive Damper System (ADS), front heated seats, HDD sat nav and privacy glass. Those who opt for the top EX grade will receive headlight washers, smart entry and start capability, a sunglasses holder, interior blue ambient lighting and Bi-HID headlights with auto levelling.

The 1.6-litre diesel might at first seem to be the poor relation to Honda's 2.2-litre unit in terms of power but it aced the larger capacity engine when it comes to running costs.

Consider this. You'll get almost 75mpg from the astonishingly economical 120PS 1.6 diesel on the combined cycle. For a company which once thought diesel engines a bad idea, Honda has really stolen a march here.

The diesel engine is an absolute gem and safety and security are top drawer. Plus the Civic Tourer's styling is bold, clever and successful and crucially, there's plenty of space inside. Honda's folding seating system is the best in the business too. In summary, this car turns an average hatchback into a surprisingly effective and desirable estate.

It's not without its caveats, but right now this is the Civic body to choose and by quite some margin.

The creative team behind Honda's recent smash-hit viral film 'Hands' is aiming for further success with a new TV advertising campaign to welcome the Civic Tourer into Honda dealerships across the UK.

The campaign celebrates the idea that beauty is about much more than what appears on the surface. The creative plays to the trend in design, engineering and wider society of looks being valued over substance.

The viewer is taken on a journey through various objects, including a golf ball, suitcase, chest of drawers and a guitar amp, to reveal the inner beauty of each.

It then goes on to position the new Civic Tourer as another perfect example of 'Inner Beauty'; dynamic and sporty-looking, yet under the surface there lies practicality and function.

Olivia Dunn, head of marketing for Honda (UK) said: "Take a first glance at the Civic Tourer and you see a great-looking car.

"This campaign takes the viewer beyond that first appearance to emphasise the balance between style and performance, and the incredible practicality that the car delivers.

"Once again the team behind 'Hands' has brought the message to life in a fresh, innovative and compelling way in line with Honda's high standards and unique style."

Drivetime

XF range is boosted by addition of diesel model

It's Jaguar's introductory model with luxury and performance, but now also with a new high-economy diesel engine. Can it be thrifty and enjoyable?

It's a very busy time over at Jaguar, what with the F-Type Roadster now prowling the streets and the just-announced Coupe version ready to do the same. There's the high performance XJR to come too, but it's the more mainstream models that are relevant to most of us – which is why the XF is so important.

Jaguar has given the XF a few key updates for 2014 and, reflecting the times we live in, the most important change is the introduction of a more frugal new diesel engine.

The 2.2-litre four cylinder unit improves on the previous version with impressive figures of 129g/km of CO2 and 57.7mpg, the kind of numbers that appeal to your wallet rather than your heart.

Part of the reason for the improvement is some clever techy stuff in the shape of a revised cooling system and a bigger EGR valve, but what makes greater sense to you and me is the stop-start system that cuts the engine out when not needed.

If you've not experienced stop-start before it might feel a bit weird, but once you trust that the engine will start again the instant you release the brake pedal it becomes second nature.

It all helps eke out a few more miles per gallon, and it's clever in other ways too – pull up and put the transmission in Park and it goes into stop mode, but release your seat belt and it knows you're home and switches off completely.

Theatre

You still get the XF's bit of theatre when you start up, as the air vents glide electrically open and the previously-flush circular gearlever rises up from between the seats.

The gearbox is also a new addition, with eight forward ratios.

That might seem like an awful lot, but out on the motorway the engine is barely above tickover at the legal limit, keeping noise levels down and fuel economy up.

Despite appearing focused on economy, the XF still offers a driving experience that's a cut above the norm.

Whether the speed is high or low it remains poised, filtering out bumps so you're aware of them, but no discomfort is caused.

Yet the flip side of this is that when you start to press on, the XF is every inch the sports saloon, gripping strongly and staying level and controlled through corners.

But the XF is a car you'd be happy to live with on a daily basis too.

The seats are supportive and comfortable, their heating will toast your behind if you leave them on full power, and the top-drawer audio system can make the worst traffic jams seem irrelevant.

Once upon a time Jaguars were all about the cut and thrust and weren't so easy to justify on a financial basis. But the 2.2 Diesel XF is as economical and easy to live with as a fairly humble family hatchback, yet gives you so much more in terms of comfort, style and driving pleasure. It's hard not to be very impressed.

Jaguar and Land Rover are both winners in the 2014 BusinessCar Awards.

For the Jaguar XF it is a remarkable third successive Executive Car of the Year title, reinforcing its excellent reputation among fleet operators and business motorists, the people whose informed opinions decide the annual awards.

Paul Barker, BusinessCar Editor, said: "The Jaguar XF is a car that's constantly evolving to become more and more relevant to the fleet community, and that's reflected in its hat-trick of BusinessCar Executive Car of the Year awards."

"The XF Sportbrake with lower emitting diesel engines and expanded, more appealing specifications all add up to a car our readers have chosen as best in its segment against some serious competition."

Jaguar has continued to develop the model's strengths and the breadth of customer choice since its launch. This is underscored by the introduction of the XF Sportbrake and the engineering of powertrains that deliver lower emissions, which in turn attract highly competitive tax ratings for business customers. This quality is defined by the XF 2.2d, which delivers 163PS yet just 129g/km of CO2.

The Range Rover Sport has secured the Large 4x4 of the Year award.

Players 'itching' to get on with run

KENNY Jackett has admitted Wolves' players are "itching" to play as he challenged them to put together a 10-match winning run to cash in on their latest good fortune.

Leyton Orient's shock 3-1 defeat at home to struggling Bristol City on Tuesday night was the Os' third loss in a row and handed a further confidence boost to Wolves in the race for automatic promotion.

The surprise result means Jackett's side retained second place in League One but now have a game in hand on the East Londoners, who are a point behind them.

"I think the lads are itching to play and get on with it," said Jackett. "Maybe the results won't always work out for us, but if the performances are there on a consistent basis, it will show up over a 10-game period."

Jackett admitted the players have been frustrated after the postponement of Saturday's trip to Stevenage left them without a game for two weeks before this weekend's visit of Notts County as they seek a fifth straight win.

500 join up to race for charity aid

ALMOST 500 runners have already entered a race to raise money for a heart charity.

The Action Heart five-mile heart run takes place on Sunday, February 23 and hundreds of runners have already entered. Should you wish to enter then organisers are advising people to do so as quickly as possible.

The course does not have to be run, it is also open to walkers. Anyone interested in getting involved should visit www.actionheartrunning.com and download an entry form or they can enter online. Alternatively call 01384 292233 and request a form.

All money raised from the run will be used directly by the Action Heart Cardiac Rehabilitation Programme in Dudley.

Runners and walkers can also raise sponsorship for their efforts and gain themselves a new pair of trainers or an Adidas sweatshirt.

Details available on the same website.

Jackett aiming to keep his side buzzing

WOLVES' postponed clash at Stevenage is set to take place on April 1 – as frustrated Kenny Jackett set about keeping his players in a "good place" while keeping up the momentum built up by his team's recent successes.

The new date means Wolves face the pressure a logjam of nine games in 27 days from March 8, six of which are away, with the team in action on four consecutive Tuesdays which could tell on his players by the end of the season.

The clubs are expecting to confirm the new date this week after Saturday's match was called off due to a waterlogged pitch along with many other sporting events which have been causing chaos with the sporting calendar for weeks.

Head coach Jackett admitted seeing a second match postponed in three weeks after the trip to Crawley went the same way was a "body blow".

But his big task is keeping his cock-a-hoop players in buoyant mood after four successive wins with a two-week break in fixtures before Notts County are the visitors to Molineux on Saturday.

Football

"It's frustrating because our side is in a good place," said Jackett.

"But all that matters is when we play Stevenage, we'd better be in a good place," added the Wolves' boss. "We have to maintain our momentum and make sure we're right on those days when we play."

"It looks like it's going to be played on April 1, and if you look from March, we've got a midweek game every week, so it's a crucial period." Jackett knows maintaining momentum is easier said than done.

He added: "We've got to try to keep some consistency in the training, and consistency with your pattern."

"Then when the games come around, you must make sure the balance is right and players are relaxed and enjoying themselves, which to play your best football you need. But we must not take our foot off the accelerator and coast."

Jackett revealed his disappointment at seeing the game being off but remains philosophical.

"It was a body blow to me personally on Friday; I could see the game slipping away and it was a horrible feeling," he said.

"But there are severe weather conditions around the country affecting many people lots more than us, so we shouldn't complain."

Jackett admitted Peterborough's last-gasp 2-1 win at Leyton Orient, who were due to host Bristol City on Tuesday, while leaders Brentford go to Sheffield United on Wednesday, was a boost. "At this stage you're looking for a break somewhere," he said.

In-house matches to stop staleness

WOLVES are to arrange in-house full-sided games to prevent the likes of outcast Jamie O'Hara from getting stale.

Neither O'Hara nor Kevin Foley were scheduled to play in Monday's postponed Under-21s' game against Norwich.

Head coach Kenny Jackett opted to ignore O'Hara and planned to play untried Slovakian full-back Kristian Kostna in central midfield again against the Canaries, before the match was called off due to a waterlogged pitch at AFC Telford.

But Jackett insisted £5m signing O'Hara will get action in 'top-up' 11-a-side matches at Compton – but only when the first team aren't playing in midweek.

"When we've got free midweeks we'll make sure we put on at least one 11-a-side in-house," said Jackett. "That will cater for people who don't play, depending on the state of the pitch here."

"When we get to the Tuesday games that might be a bit more difficult, but with a free week you have the flexibility to do that." Jackett stressed O'Hara will also be used in the Under-21s team.

Win keeps side in the top spot

Lichfield 0

Bloxwich Ladies 1sts 3
ON a cold, wet afternoon, Bloxwich Ladies Hockey Firsts had the majority of the play with excellent build-up moves eventually giving them the victory.

Bloxwich's defence played the ball around well and pushed forward when needed, providing opportunities for their team mates.

The squad had two shots saved off the line nonetheless Bloxwich carried on with some great passing which led to two goals from H Scott and a goal after L Woodrow spotted the gap and smashed the ball into the D for a cheeky deflection from player-of-the-match E Pearce.

Another great result which keeps the side three points clear at the top going into the two-week break. It proved an excellent weekend for the ladies section as all four teams beat Lichfield.

Dons' tough lesson for 10-man Saddlers

Walsall 0 MK Dons 3

ONE team went into Saturday's game at the Banks's as favourites on the back of a seven-game unbeaten run, while the other were seemingly floundering after a run of losses.

But by 5pm it was the latter who had emerged with the comprehensive victory, as an Izale McLeod-inspired MK Dons gave Walsall's play-off aspirations a hefty punch in the guts.

Couldn't see it coming? You weren't alone, though it was impossible to miss the powerful presence of McLeod, who scored two of the visitors' three goals and had a direct hand in the other when he was brought down for Ben Reeves' penalty.

Saddlers skipper Andy Butler was shown a straight red card for the challenge and on a day when everything which could go wrong did for the hosts.

New man Michael Ngoo blew his big chance for a debut goal when he rolled a penalty comfortably into the arms of keeper David Martin two minutes from time.

Neither was there comfort on returning to the dressing room afterwards, to discover two late Peterborough goals at Leyton Orient had catapulted Darren Ferguson's side over the Saddlers and into League One's coveted sixth position.

Tomorrow's meeting with the Posh at London Road now takes on even greater significance for Dean Smith's men.

Football

Butler's sending-off and the second goal on the stroke of half-time did not help matters. Smith spoke afterwards of a possible appeal but in reality it's unlikely and either Ben Purkiss or James Chambers will have to fill the skipper's considerable boots at London Road.

But they were already struggling before being reduced to 10 men. Paul Downing has rarely looked less assured all season than when faced by McLeod, who began causing problems from the first whistle. The striker's only disappointment will be his failure to notch a hat-trick.

Walsall were hoping to reach half-time just a goal down but were dealt a hammer blow two minutes before the break when McLeod latched on to a Dean Lewington pass before being fouled by Butler. The home skipper was shown a straight red and Reeves dispatched the penalty. In the second half, McLeod put the game beyond doubt when he again finished smartly.

CHASE swimmer Ben Colclough smashed two England schools' records and set two personal best times when he claimed a gold medal hat-trick at a gala in Coventry.

Seventeen-year-old Colclough was among five Stafford Grammar School students who delivered outstanding performances to win 15 medals at the Independent Schools' Association (ISA) national swimming championships. The five were representing the Midlands after excelling in a regional qualifier in Walsall. Colclough trains with Chase Swimming Club.

Cannock teenager Eliza Grace,

15, a member of the Royal Wolverhampton club, lifted under-20 silver medals in the individual medley and medley relays, before adding a bronze to her haul in the 100m breaststroke.

Among the winners was Ryan Hopper, 12 and 12-year-old Finn Nicholls had five podium finishes.

Purkiss happy to step up if needed

BEN PURKISS is confident of filling the void left by skipper Andy Butler when Walsall visit Peterborough tomorrow.

The 29-year-old is one of several candidates who could partner Paul Downing in the centre of the Saddlers defence for the showdown with play-off rivals Posh, which Butler will miss through suspension following his sending-off in last Saturday's 3-0 defeat to MK Dons.

Purkiss finished that game alongside Downing and has experience of playing alongside the 22-year-old in the middle last season. And he is confident of stepping up to the plate if asked by boss Dean Smith.

"I feel I have a good relationship with Paul," said Purkiss. "I played a lot with him last season. People make sure they are right at this club and from that point of view I think everyone is ready. People on the bench are ready to come in and play when needed and usually do that."

If he doesn't feature at centre-back, Purkiss is almost certain to start the game in his more familiar position of right-back but says he is comfortable wherever he is asked to play," he said.

"Centre-half is less physically demanding, so I can't see there being any problem on that side of the game."

Saddlers in mourning

WALSALL are mourning the loss of former player Eddie Holding, who has died aged 83.

Holding made 41 appearances for the Saddlers in two spells during the early 1950s, scoring eight goals.

Joining the club as an amateur in 1947, Wolverhampton-born Holding turned professional in January 1949 and made his debut during the following season. Establishing himself in the team during the 1951/52 campaign, he made 25 appearances, mainly in the right-back role.

Also able to play in attack when required, he scored a hat-trick against Brighton on Christmas Day 1953, during what was his second spell with the club having briefly moved to Derby County.

His next port of call was Barrow, who he joined in the summer of 1954.

CANNOCK 1st met Birmingham University Seconds at home who were the only team to have beaten them in the league this season.

Cannock did not start with their usual confidence and found themselves on the back foot after two minutes. Cannock played through their unsettled patch and Birmingham soon found themselves under increased pressure before Lucy Spencer netted to bring the teams level.

Second half saw Cannock continue to apply the pressure but a quick counter attack saw Birmingham take the lead for the second time in the game. Cannock continued to battle in the wintry conditions and Spencer converted a short corner to finish the game 2-2 and leave Cannock in strong position for their plea for promotion back to the national league.

Cannock Ladies 2nds 4
Northampton Saints Ladies 1sts 4
Cannock Seconds faced second-in-the-table Northampton Saints. Cannock knew this would be a tough game and Northampton started strong getting the first but minutes later Cannock equalised. The score at half time was 2-2 but there more still more goals in this game with neither team backing down.

Cannock Ladies 2nds 5
Burton Ladies 2nds 0
Cannock Seconds faced Burton away in the Women's Second XI Plate. Cannock started strong, keeping possession but were unable to find the goal until Rachel Drayton-Chana found her sister Sarah Drayton-Chana on the back post to slot the ball in the back of the net. Cannock continued to pile on the pressure. The win takes the girls into the quarter finals in March.

Cannock Ladies 3rds 0
Stafford Ladies 1sts 1
Cannock allowed Stafford to break through the middle and score a goal 0-1 but did not give up pressing all the time with the majority of the possession.

Scorers were Jill Simpson and Olivia Edwards.

Lambert will talk to Marc

VILLA boss Paul Lambert has confirmed he is set for contract talks with Marc Albrighton.

The winger's deal expires at the end of the season and Lambert is looking to secure his future.

Albrighton was man of the match in Saturday's 2-0 defeat at West Ham, despite only coming on as a second-half substitute.

And Lambert, who is in negotiations with Villa about extending his own contract, said he wants to talk terms with Albrighton.

"I will do," he said. "I think that's normal. Every time Marc's come on for me he's done well. He's been really unlucky with the injuries he's had here, they've kept him out for a long spell. But I thought he was excellent."

"I'll definitely sit and talk to him. It's just the way things have worked out with the games and his injuries have been one after the other."

Albrighton spent a month on loan at Wigan earlier in the season following foot, hamstring and throat problems in 2013 and Lambert hailed his professionalism.

"He's just a quiet lad," he said.

PITMEN ARE HIT AS RIVALS DIG IN

Harrogate Town 3 Hednesford Town 1

It was frustration for the Pitmen as two goals in the first half left them with everything to do.

Hednesford Town fell to their first defeat in five matches at a windswept Yorkshire as fellow play-off hopefuls Harrogate Town took advantage of defensive lapses.

In the opening 45 minutes Harrogate left The Pitmen struggling to mount any sort of comeback in the second half.

Jamey Osborne made a surprise start in midfield after previously being rated as very doubtful due to hamstring problems as Rob Smith looked to fill the creative void left by the departure of top scorer Elliott Durrell to Wrexham and the terrible news regarding Kris Taylor's diagnosis of testicular cancer.

Support

The Hednesford manager also opted to play a back three of Ben Bailey, Francino Francis and Paul McCone, with John Disney and Darren Campion expected to support the aforementioned Osborne, Dave Macpherson and Tom Thorley in midfield but it was perhaps the unfamiliarity of the formation which gave Harrogate the opportunity to open the scoring on 10 minutes.

Disney was caught too far forward on the right wing and when the ball was played in from the left wing Ashley Worsfold fired in a cross shot and Chris Hall was able to divert the ball into the empty net. The home side doubled their lead when a relatively straight forward free kick was played into the box and lax marking left Matt Heath in acres of space to sweep the ball beyond Dan Crane.

The Pitmen, with Neil Harvey and new signing Paul Sullivan upfront, struggled to get any change from the strong Harrogate centre-back pairing but as the half-hour mark came Harvey headed over from a Thorley free kick, Disney hit a rasping drive across goal and the deficit was halved when Osborne was fouled in the area.

Disney confidently tucked away the resulting spot kick on 36 minutes and The Pitmen support would have been delighted to see their side enter the half time break only a goal down.

Their hopes were dashed when Bailey looked to see the ball out for the goal kick but misjudged the pace and let Worsfold in to square for Hall to nip in front of a static Hednesford defence to restore Harrogate's two-goal lead.

In truth, that third goal put the game to bed as a contest. The Pitmen go into this weekend's home clash with Solihull Moors still lying in second place.
